PUBLIC NOW KNOWS ALL FACTS IN MURDER CASE, SAY DETECTIVES

Pinkertons Declare the State Has No Evidence of Importance That Hasn't Been Given to the Newspapers

IDENTITY OF SOLICITOR'S DETECTIVE A MYSTERY

Chief Lanford Believes He Is One of Sheriff's Capable Deputies—Gantt Questioned, Newt Lee Has Lawyer

The probe into the mystery of little Mary Phagan's death two weeks ago still goes on.

The small army of professional, amateur, city, state and private detectives which took up the chase of the murderer soon after the horrible details of the crime became known still pursues the investigation with unabated vigor.

Solicitor Dorsey's detective, heralded as the best in the world and admitted by the solicitor to be an A-1 man, remains a mystery. Mr. Dorsey refuses to divulge his identity, and even the attaches of his office profess not to know his name.

N. A. Lanford, chief of the city detectives, who has known not even a twelve-hour working day law since the crime was discovered, and who has been vigorously following every tangible "lead," treats the entry of Mr. Dorsey's sleuth into the limelight very lightly, and expresses the opinion that the mysterious man is no other than a very conscientious and efficient young deputy in the solicitor's office.

PUBLIC KNOWS ALL.

Officials of the Pinkerton agency, which has been employed to ferret out the mystery by the National Pencil company, declare that they are well satisfied with the progress made, and add that the public is now in possession of practically all of the really important points in the state's case. They regard as highly important the testimony of Miss Monteen Stover.

The Pinkertons state that the identity of the mysterious detective who has been brought into the case by Solicitor Dorsey, is not known to them.

"We welcome any assistance which the alleged detectives can give the state, for we are only interested in seeing the mystery cleared and the guilty party brought to trial. However, working with the city department, and giving it the benefit of everything we learn, we have done all that is humanly possible for detectives to do, and we are continuing the probe with the intention of leaving no stone unturned."

Solicitor Dorsey on Saturday again gave practically his entire time to the Phagan investigation, and interviewed during the morning many of the city detectives, who are working on the case.

GANTT INTERVIEWED.

Among the witnesses whom he saw Saturday was J. M. Gantt, who for a few days was held by the detectives in connection with the case. Gantt, it is said, made a statement relative to the seriousness of Superintendent L. M. Frank when he met Gantt at the door of the factory Saturday afternoon two weeks ago.

Newt Lee, the negro ordered held by the coroner's jury, stated to Deputy Plennie Minor Saturday that in future he would refuse to talk to anyone except his attorney. The negro didn't remember his lawyer's name, but it was later learned that he is being represented by Attorney Bernard L. Chappelear, of 609 Temple court building. Attorney Murray Dowell, who was first reported to be counsel for the incarcerated negro, states that the report is a mistake.

As the result of the Phagan investigation it is probable that the city council will be asked to allow the city detectives money for reasonable expenses incurred in their investigations.

The city detectives, who are working sixteen hours a day on the case and who have been at the guelling work steadily for two weeks, have incurred considerable expense, which must come from their own pockets since they are allowed nothing but car fare by the city.

IMPORTANT WITNESS.

Monteen Stover, a fourteen-year-old girl of 171 South Forsyth street, has made an affidavit declaring that she went to the office of Superintendent L. M. Frank, of the National Pencil factory, at 12:05 o'clock on last Memorial day, and remained there until 12:10 o'clock without seeing any person in the building.

The young girl, who is a former employe of the factory, is regarded as one of the state's most important witnesses, and her testimony will be used to help strengthen the state's case, when the Phagan murder mystery is investigated by the grand jury.

Mrs. Frank testified at the inquest that he remained in his office from the time the stenographer, Miss Hall, left as the noon whistles blew until the arrival of Leonard Quinn at 12:25 o'clock.

He also declared that Mary Phagan entered the office about 5 minutes after 12 o'clock, the time Miss Stover says that she came to the office and found it empty.

According to Miss Stover she walked up the steps at 12:05, and looked at the clock, which she was accustomed to punch, and went straight to the office. There was no one in the outer office, so she went to Mr. Frank's private office and found it empty. She waited for five minutes, she says, and having heard no one in the building, left.

The detectives found this witness last Saturday when she returned to the factory to get the pay envelope, which she failed to get on her trip to the factory the week before.

She was with her mother on this second trip and they told of the former visit, when the officers, who were stationed at the door of the factory, stopped them.

Miss Stover is a daughter of Mrs. Homer Edmondson, a boarding house keeper, and she is now employed as salesgirl at a local store. She worked at the pencil factory for about a year, she says.

ATLANTA, 1914, CRY YAARAB SHRINERS EN ROUTE TO DALLAS

Drum Corps, Patrol and Nobles Reach Meridian Early Saturday Morning and Are Given Enthusiastic Welcome

"YAARAB" SPECIAL WILL REACH TEXAS ON SUNDAY

Big Delegation From Atlanta Temple Will Arrive at Shreveport Saturday Night, After Day in Mississippi

BY RAYMUND DANIEL.
Journal Staff Correspondent.

(On Board The "Yaarab" Special.)

MERIDIAN, Miss., May 10.—No more joyous caravan ever treked to an oasis of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, than the Atlanta contingent of Yaarab temple, which passed through Meridian shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday morning, en route to Dallas, Tex., to bring back home the acceptance of Atlanta's invitation for the mammoth conclave in 1914.

Some residents of Meridian may sleep late generally, but Saturday morning was an exception. There evidently was no one left at home to keep the kitchen fire, for the railway station looked like a circus day in a country town. The early morning guests gave hearty welcome to the Atlanta Nobles, and sleepy voices and half-awakened eyes from the Pullman cars gave back eager responses.

Birmingham was passed before that city was awake—the "Yaarab" Special, having reached the Alabama city at 3:30 a. m.

ONE CONTINUOUS JOY.

From the time the Nobles embarked at the Terminal station at 10 o'clock Friday night, the trip has been most pleasant. The usual pranks of fun-loving, care-free Shriners was everywhere in evidence on the special train, and there have probably been sleep-loving Shriners who have broken all records for early to bed. The Nobles, however, were just as healthy and wise, and the wealth of merriment and good times has broken all former records for trips of this kind.

The hearty welcome that had been planned by Meridian necessitated extending the stopover time from half an hour to an hour and a half. The Atlanta Nobles were met at the train by the Meridian patrol and a committee consisting of practically every lady in the town and every Shriner.

The Nobles were placed in automobiles and escorted to a restaurant, where an old-fashioned Mississippi breakfast was served. The visitors were then carried over Meridian in automo-

MILITANTS TRY TO BLOW UP LIVERPOOL RAILROAD STATION

ANOTHER BOMB FOUND IN POSTOFFICE AT READING

Parcel Containing Bomb Addressed to Reading Official Was Clock Affair Set to Go Off After Delivery Hour

LONDON, May 10.—Two more of the now familiar bombs with which the militant suffragettes are attempting to scare the British parliament into giving the parliamentary franchise to women, were discovered this morning. One of them was found in the passengers' waiting room at the busy Lime street railroad station in Liverpool, and the other in the sorting room of the postoffice at Reading.

The fuse of the Liverpool bomb had been lighted by the perpetrator of the outrage, but had died out before it reached the gunpowder. The instrument of intended destruction consisted of a tin tobacco box filled with gunpowder and iron nuts, and the long fuse was laid in the center.

The Reading machine was wrapped in a bulky parcel to which the attention of the postoffice employes was attracted by the sound of ticking. The police were called in and on examination found the parcel contained an electric battery connected with explosives and accompanied by quantities of suffragette literature.

The parcel was address to a municipal official of Reading, now on his vacation. The police express the belief it was timed to explode in his residence during his absence. The clockwork arrangement was in perfect working order.

Because of the possibility of further attacks by the "wild women" on fine churches, many historical edifices throughout the country which during the season are usually visited by thousands of American and other tourists, have been ordered closed except during hours of service.

Beautiful Farington Hall Is Burned to the Ground

(By Associated Press.)

DUNDEE, Scotland, May 10.—Farington Hall, the riddence of Henry McGrady, former lord provost of Dundee, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Indications point to the militant suffragettes as the authors of the outrage.

Flames broke out simultaneously in half a dozen places in the great mansion, which was a beautiful specimen of architecture.

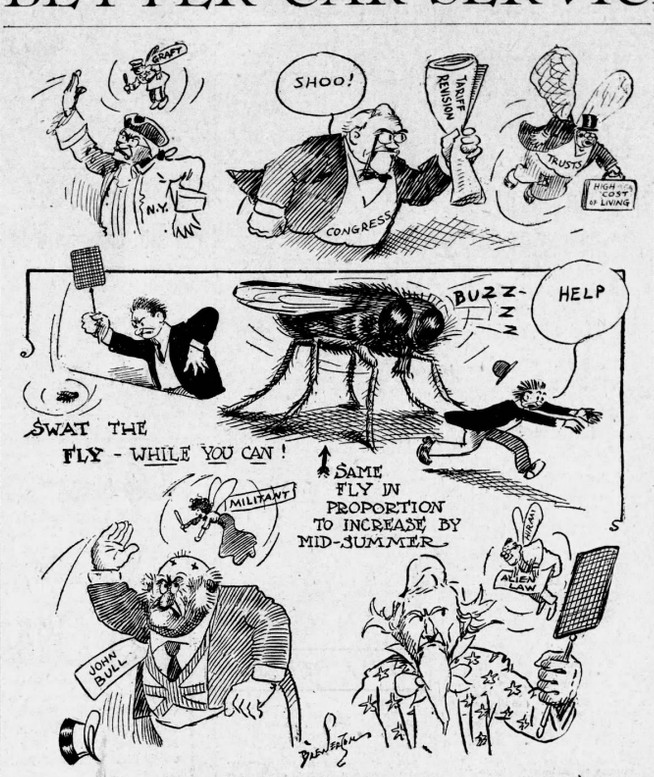
BETTER CAR SERVICE SOON



SWATTING THE FLY

BIGGER CARS WILL SUPPLANT OLD ONES ON SEVERAL LINES

Trolley Company's Plan Voluntary, It Is Said, Following Conclusions on Detailed Report of Service

NINE ROUTES WILL GET EARLY INCREASE, MAYBE

Main Cross-Town Lines Selected for Improvement, Company Finds City Has Outgrown Them

Relief appears in sight for the strap-hangers. As a result of recent systematic investigations by the state railroad commission improved street car service will be offorded shortly on all the principal lines in Atlanta and its suburbs.

It is said that probably nine out of the twenty-three routes operated by the Georgia Railway and Power company will be given better service. Some of the routes which it is understood will receive first consideration are the Peachtree and Whitehall, West Peachtree and South Pryor, Inman Park and Georgia avenue, main Decatur, and East Point and College Park. Others will be improved as rapidly as the company can give them attention, the routes with the heaviest traffic being considered first.

Small cars—those of twenty-eight-seat capacity—will give way to more larger cars affording seats for from thirty-six to forty-eight persons. Standard cars in Atlanta will soon be of the type now operated on the Inman Park and Georgia avenue line, known as the P-A-Y-E cars.

VOLUNTARY IMPROVEMENTS.

There is every indication that the improved street car service will be provided voluntarily by the Georgia Railway and Power company and without the necessity of any formal order from the railroad commission.

Several weeks ago the commission ordered the street car company to furnish it with detailed statistics concerning the service on the various lines during certain hours of the day. These statistics covered a period of one week and embraced the seating capacity of each car operated during the periods named, the number of passengers transported on each, both for the entire trip and up to the center of the city, as well as much other information.

Chairman C. M. Candler, of the commission, and Statistician Eugene Martinere made a careful analysis of the statistics. Their work was most thorough, extending over a period of three weeks. They worked out the average number of passengers on each car for the entire week, the average number on each car up to the center of the city, the average number on the entire trip of each car, the average number of passengers for certain periods, and compiled a table of averages covering the seating capacities of the various cars operated.

CONCLUSIONS CONVINCING.

And when they had finished the task the conclusions reached were so backed up by the figures that they could not be questioned. Although no public statement regarding the result of the analysis or the conclusions reached has been made, it is known that the service, furnished by the street car company on several of its lines during the three rush periods of the day was found to be inadequate.

Chairman Candler has submitted his conclusions to President P. S. Arkwright and other officials of the eGorgia Railway and Power company and they have agreed with him upon a number of them. They also volunteered to work out some suggestions for the im-

WOMAN SAYS O'HARA WAS NOT "UNDULY INTIMATE"

Miss Robinson Fails to Corroborate Charge Against Lieutenant Governor of Ohio

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 10.—Testifying before a legislative committee today, Miss Maud Robinson, author of the affidavit calling into question the moral conduct of Lieutenant Governor O'Hara, declared her relations with O'Hara had not been "unduly intimate."

In her testimony Miss Robinson brought in the name of Mrs. Mabel Davidson Inbush, of Madison, daughter of a former governor of Wisconsin. She said that she came from Springfield to Chicago on the train with O'Hara and Thomas Vredenburgh.

They went to the Hotel LaSalle, where they met Mrs. Inbush, a widow. Then they went to the Hotel Sherman cafe for dinner. Vredenburgh, she said, left the table and returning handed her the key to a suite, saying he had registered the quartet as "J. F. Miller and wife," and "F. D. Duncan and wife."

After dinner the party adjourned to a cafe where she said they met Harry Gibbons, a friend of O'Hara's, whom the latter says he telegraphed to meet him in Chicago when he found himself in the party on the train.

After a number of drinks, witness declared that she, Mrs. Inbush and Vredenburgh went to the Hotel Sherman, leaving Gibbons and O'Hara in front of the cafe.

Later in the evening she said O'Hara called at the apartment.

Miss Roinson testified she went to the hotel on January 17 and remained there three days.

Witness said that she signed the affidavit at the request of Samuel Davis, a liquor dealer of Springfield, who assured her that it never would be made public, but would be used only to coerce O'Hara into aborting his vice investigation away from Davis.

Later Davis asked her to sign a second affidavit against O'Hara, but upon advice of a lawyer friend she declined to do so.

"Why didn't he want you to sign it?"

"Because he said Davis might not keep his promise to keep the affidavit secret," replied Miss Robinson.

Miss Robinson testified she had been married, then divorced and that she and her mother were in the dressmaking business in Springfield.

Lieutenant Governor O'Hara said this afternoon he was ready to go on the stand, and he thought Miss Robinson's testimony had made an impression favorable to him.

"I have nothing to do with this affair. I have never stayed at the Hotel Sherman and have never visited there with Mr. Vredenburgh nor do I know Mr. O'Hara, and I never knew Maud Robinson," declared Mrs. Inbush today, according to a special dispatch from Madison, Wis., to the oJurnal.

Mrs. Inbush said she believed the bringing of her name "into this is a part of a political conspiracy against my father, just as the charges are being used against Mr. O'Hara by saloonkeepers and divekeepers who resent his investigation."

She admitted the possibility that she might have been in Chicago at the time in question, but declared if she was she was staying with friends and not at any hotel.

Wear a White Rose Tomorrow for It Is "Mother's Day"

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Great preparations have been made for the observation here tomorrow of Mother's day, and thousands of white flowers have been cut and prepared for wearers. One florist alone announced today that he would have more than 10,000 white carnations on hand, and other florists and street venders will be prepared for a big business. The white blossom is the symbol that marks the celebrant.

Mother's day, intended to do honor to living mothers and to pay homage to the memories of those who have gone before, was originated in Philadelphia in March, 1908, and now has become an international observance.

DARDEN FIGHTING FOR CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

Man Who Slew C. M. Doddard Takes Habeas Corpus and Enjoins Wife

Elmer T. Darden, who is now out on a supersedeas bond for killing C. M. Goddard a few months ago, took habeas corpus proceedings against his wife, Mrs. Naomi Darden, Saturday morning, asking for the custody of his minor children and that at the same time enjoining her from leaving the city. The paper was filed in the superior court by Spence McClelland and W. M. Smith, attorneys for Mr. Darden.

Darden was recently tried and convicted of manslaughter and given three years in the penitentiary, but was released on a supersedeas bond a few days ago, pending the hearing of his appeal for a new trial. His plea was of "the unwritten law." He is now employed in making bids on marble and stone work on the new county court house.

Darden's attorneys declare that Mrs. Darden was making preparations to leave the city with the children. The paper alleges further that she is an improper person to care for his children.

Secretary of Treasury Will Fix Values for Tariff Assessment If Amendment Is Adopted

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—An amendment to the tariff bill to authorize the secretary of the treasury to proclaim values of imported goods for the purpose of assessing ad valorem tariff duties, irrespective of fluctuating foreign markets, thereby approximating the ad valorem system of specific duties, was proposed today to Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee, and Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee, by the assistant attorney general and secretary of treasury.

Both leaders looked upon the proposal with interest and the tariff bill may accordingly be amended in the finance committee before it enters the senate for debate.

President Wilson has been apprised that such an amendment would cut down litigation, take much work from the board of appraisers, and is believed by its proponents to be absolutely necessary for the successful working of an ad valorem tariff bill.

Another amendment proposed would make it unlawful for any person to take up appeals from appraised valuations on a contingent fee basis. Assistant Attorney General Dennison said today that the amendment with the provision already in the bill requiring a fee of $1 for all protests and appeals would curtail customs litigation 50 per cent.

The proposed amendment which injects a completely new feature into the administration of the tariff law was conceived by Assistant Attorney General Dennison, who was chairman of the presidential commission that investigated the board of general appraisers several months ago. The recommendation of the commission for sweeping changes in the present methods of appraisement and classification recently were submitted to congress by President Wilson.

Secretary Redfield conferred with Senator Simmons. He suggested to change the date upon which to begin computing the income tax from January 1, 1912, to July 1, 1913. Mr. Redfield thought to meet changed conditions in certain industries, particularly the sugar industry.

With the senate in adjournment until Tuesday, the Republican fight against consideration of the tariff bill by the finance committee without public hearings will be continued, the Republican leaders endeavoring to win votes for the Penrose amendment to instruct the committee to open its doors.

Some Democrats are reported as disapproving the decision not to hold hearings, and upon them the opposition bases its hope to override the majority.

Senate Democrats are planning to caucus on the tariff bill in the near future to thresh out the much-disputed wool and sugar schedules and other features that have developed isolated party opposition. There also will be settled the question of excusing senators from supporting any particular section of the bill.

BRYAN AND CHINDA IN ANOTHER CONFERENCE

Japanese Ambassador and Secretary of State Confer Over California Land Bill

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Secretary Bryan and Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, got down to business today at an early conference over the California alien land bill. Japan's protest already had been formally presented and the ambassador was waiting to learn what the United States proposed to do about the bill already passed by the California legislature and awaiting Governor Johnson's signature.

Early there was prospect of a special cabinet meeting to afford Secretary Bryan an opportunity to lay before President Wilson and his colleagues the results of his further conference with the Japanese ambassador. It was evident that there was no disposition to delay the question, and it appeared to be the intention of Secretary Bryan to give to the Japanese ambassador a prompt assurance of what his government might expect the United States to do about the legislation Japan considers offensive.

The conference lasted an hour and at its conclusion Viscount Chinda paid a short visit to Councillor Moore. No statement was forthcoming as to what had taken place, but it was known that having presented the views of his own government in objection to the California legislation as well as that of Arizona, the ambassador withdrew to await a formal answer from the state department.

Before that is given Secretary Bryan wishes to confer with President Wilson.

Indications were that it would be late in the day, if not Monday, before the conferences between the secretary and the ambassador could be resumed.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 10.—So that the children of the poorer people will not feel ashamed of their clothing when in the class room with clothes-dressed children of rich parents, the Mothers' club and Teachers' club here yesterday started a movement toward a uniform dress to be worn by all girls who attend the Fort Wayne schools. Merchants have promised the women that they will carry in stock at a price within reach of all a uniform dress. The members of the Mothers' club declare that one reason for discontent among daughters of poor parents is the better dress of other girls.

Radium Salts Are Found in Saratoga Springs, New York

(By Associated Press.)

SARATOGA, May 10.—Dissolved radium salts to an exceptional degree exists in the mineral springs of the New York state reservation in this village, according to the United States bureau of mines, which has submitted to the state reservation commission a report of a recent investigation in thirteen of the wells now owned by the state. It is further stated that the springs carry considerably more than a trace of barium, an element usually associated with radium.

These results were obtained from water taken in October, 1912. Since that time the commission reports the progress of records from the springs has been continuous, a number of new wells have begun to flow and very substantial advances in the amount of radio activity are likely to be discovered upon further examination.

CHUCK CONNORS DIES FROM HEART DISEASE

Picturesque Character of the Old Bowery in New York Dies in Hospital

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 10.—"Chuck" Connors is dead. The picturesque character of the old Bowery, best known, perhaps, as the "Mayor of Chinatown," died of heart disease in the Hudson street hospital today.

The secrets of Chinatown's dark hallways, subterranean passages and hidden shadows had been his for many years. Slant-eyed veterans of its warring tongs, the Four Brothers, the Hip Sing ton and the On Leong tong, declared a truce when the news of his death became known, and they will march shoulder to shoulder in a parade to honor his memory.

"Chuck" Connors was sixty-one years old. Most of his life was spent in Chinatown.

Of late he had made a living as guide to sightseeing parties visiting his stamping ground.

CORN GROWING FEATURES FOR WILKES-LINCOLN FAIR

Over 159 Boys Are in Corn Club Work in These Two Counties Alone

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WASHINGTON, Ga., May 10.—There are 159 boys in the corn club work in Wilkes and Lincoln counties, according to a statement of J. Luke Burdette, demonstration agent of the government in these two counties. In addition to these there are over 100 farmers following approved modern methods in corn growing and the Wilkes-Lincoln fair will be a great event in Washington, October 28-31.

Wednesday J. C. McAuliffe, manager of the Augusta corn festival, which is being put on under the auspices of the Augusta Chronicle, in connection with the Georgia-Carolina fair at Augusta, November 5-15, was here going over the work with Mr. Burdette and other prominent farmers and he was assured that forty contestants would grow corn in an effort to make the largest yield in the Augusta territory and win the $700 prize offered for the capital prize.

The Wilkes-Lincoln fair has augmented this prize by adding $100 in gold for the largest yield in either Wilkes or Lincoln and $50 for the second largest yield, consequently should either of these counties be successful, the winner would obtain $800 in prizes. The fair has also offered splendid prizes to the boys of the two counties, ranging in value from $25 to $5 and the winners will all take their corn to the Augusta Chronicle's corn show and enter the contest there. Mr. Burdette stated he expected over 100 boys would go to the Augusta contest in a body.

The canning club feature is also liberally looked after by the Wilkes-Lincoln fair management and the show promises to be one of the best ever held in the section. This will be the second annual fair of the two counties, the fair last year being a great success. The farming outlook in the two counties now is bright and farmers buoyant over prospects for good crops.

Snail Races Are Now Popular on Ocean Steamships

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 10.—Snail racing is an innovation in the mid-Atlantic, where there are no anti-betting laws and judging from the excitement attending a race staged on the promenade deck of a French steamer which has just arrived here, the sport is likely to prove popular.

A woman passenger at dinner suggested the snail race. A half dozen snails of the edible variety, some three inches long, were obtained from the ship's steward and placed upon a sheet of white paper on the promenade deck. A head of lettuce was set as a goal. The distance over the track was eighteen inches.

When the first race was run off on Wednesday afternoon the winning snail covered the course in a tatte over three hours. Many of the passengers who made bets on the contests saw the start and came back later to witness the finish.

DAILY CAMPAIGN STORY

"Let the Booklovers' Plan Pay for Your Wedding Tour."

A very enthusiastic contestant called at Campaign Headquarters yesterday to get another Catalogue. After talking to him about the Booklovers' plan and the work, the Campaign Editor asked him if his wife was assisting him in selecting the titles. He blushed like a modest school girl, saying he did not as yet have a wife, but that he wanted the catalogue for one of the best girls in the country, and as she had consented to change name in October, they had decided it would not be a bad idea to act on The Journal's own suggestion of getting that one thousand dollars in Gold and using it for a dandy trip across the country, or possibly Europe.

He did say, that while this was his first Booklovers' Campaign, he was enjoying the work very much and that he and his best girl spent a good many pleasant evenings selecting the titles from the catalogue and that the reason he wanted the extra catalogue at this time was that she was going to Macon to visit her mother and suggested that he should get her a catalogue so that she could put in her spare time on it while visiting at the old home. It is a safe bet to make that these two young people are going to submit two sets of answers that will count for something when the checking of answers is completed. They certainly have the best wishes of The Journal for success, and we know that the other contestants will rejoice with them if they accomplish the task they have set out for themselves.

We have no means of knowing how many young couples are doing the same as these two, but judging from the number of nice young men and women who are entering the campaign every day, there is more than this one couple who are fixing to have The Journal pay their wedding expenses. We hope they will all exercise their right of extra answers and submit the full result of their skill and not one-fifth of it, as a great many of our readers did last year.

With each new Answer Book giving all contestants the right to ten answers and using only one of each picture there will be no excuse to hold down to one or two answers on each picture, on account of the expense of securing extra pictures at 2c each. With the Answer Book, they will only need one of each picture and The Journal will give them the first thirty-five pictures free with the Answer Book. Then they can subscribe for The Journal for the balance of the campaign and get the other 40 pictures.

The Answer Book will be sold at 50c at the office, or 60c by mail and will be ready for distribution on May 15th.

GET IN THE GAME NOW AND WIN A PRIZE!

Mrs. E. M. A., Decatur: Any of titles mentioned may be possible. You must study out the pictures from all angles. The title may be suggested by one person in the picture or by the whole group.

GOV. BROWN FAVORS STERILIZATION LAW

He Points Out Danger to Society From Families Criminally Insane

In an interview today, Governor Brown went on record as favoring legislation for the sterilization of persons criminally insane or of criminal instincts. That a law authorizing this should be passed by the legislature was urged by the board of the state sanitarium in its annual report issued Friday.

In expressing himself in favor of such legislation, Governor Brown said that he had followed discussions of it for a year or more, and that scientists, physicians and alienists were in favor of it.

A law of this kind is already in force in two states, and Governor Brown said that he expected every state in the union to pass a similar one eventually.

Illustrating the protection that such a law would afford society, Governor Brown said that the authorities of New York state made a record of one family of criminals, and discovered that this family and its criminal practices could be traced back to the time of the revolutionary war.

Various branches of it had furnished criminals which had cost the authorities $2,000,000 in prosecution and in retention in asylums and jails.

This instance, Governor Brown said, was fairly typical of many others throughout the country, which would indicate how much the various states suffered through the propagation of the criminal species.

CITY OFFICIALS VISIT CHARITY INSTITUTIONS

Found All That City Helps to Support Doing Good Work

A tour of inspection through six of the charitable and benevolent institutions partially supported by the city government was made Friday afternoon by Alderman Spratling, Alderman Nutting, Councilman Thomson and City Warden Evans.

They went to the Home for Incurables, the Home for the Friendless, the Florence Crittenton home, the Carrie Steel orphanage, the Sheltering Arms and the Home for Old Women, arriving at the latter in time to eat a delightful fish fry served by Mrs. Purtell and the ladies of the home to council members and other guests.

They found these various institutions in fine shape from the standpoint of management, sanitary conditions, etc., and all doing good work.

Their only complaint—and it was more in the nature of a reminder—is that all of the institutions have not been complying with the city ordinance requiring them to report quarterly to the council committee on benevolences and charities, of which Alderman Spratling is the chairman and Alderman Nutting and Councilman Thomas are members. This law applies to all institutions to whose support the city appropriates money.

In addition to the six institutions named above, there are three others which get help from the city, being the Free Kindergarten, Y. W. C. A. and Travelers' Aid association.

A man living at Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, nor run up a heavy doctor's bill, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." He has had no return whatever of the pain, backache and burning. His name is J. A. Farmer, and he lives at Cairo. I recommend Foley Kidneys Pills as a very effective cure for kidney and bladder trouble." For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

COUNTY TO OIL 50 MILES OF ROADS TO LAY DUST

Roads Committee Prepares to Make Traveling Pleasant in Summer

The question of oiling the roads of Fulton county for the summer months was brought to the attention of the roads committee of the county board at its regular weekly meeting Saturday, with the result that fifty miles of roadway in the county were ordered oiled with petroleum asphalt in order to lay the dust. The work will be done under the supervision of Sam E. Finley, who has a four-year contract with the county.

Philip Weltner, John J. Eagan and W. W. Orr appeared as a committee from the prison association of Georgia, to ask that the county make some provision to allow the prisoners to have more freedom on Sunday. Mr. Weltner appeared as the spokesman, and stated that now the men have to spend Sunday in the same building in which they sleep during the week, and he thought they should at least be allowed fresh air, and wanted a mess hall built for them to hear services in, instead of in the place they inhabited.

Superintendent Tom Donaldson stated that he was perfectly willing to do anything that might improve the condition of his prisoners, but stated that if they were allowed to roam in an enclosure, as suggested by Mr. Weltner, that it would mean that there would be no holiday on Sundays for the guards, who now alternated in taking a day off with their families.

No action was taken on the matter, the members agreeing to take the question up again at a future meeting. In the meantime they asked that the committee from the prison association prepare plans and specifications of what they desire, saying that the board would be glad to reconsider them at another meeting.

AD MEN ENTERTAINED BY JACOBS' PHARMACY

Big Time Is On at Burns Cottage, With Prominent Druggist the Host

Members of the Atlanta Ad Men's club are having "themselves a time" Saturday afternoon.

They are the guests of Jacobs' pharmacy at the Burns club for the afternoon, with C. A. Smith, manager of the Jacobs stores, and Joe Jacobs masters of ceremonies.

At noon the Ad Men left the city for the cottage, some in automobiles and others on a special car chartered for the event. Upon their arrival at the replica of the home occupied by the famous Scottish bard, the guests were seated at a regular old-fashioned barbecue, where every good thing imaginable to eat and drink was served them.

An air of informality and generous hospitality helped to make the entertainment a red letter event in the annals of the organization.

JOLLIFICATION ENDS MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

One of the most successful membership campaigns ever held by the local Railroad Young Men's Christian association came to a close with a jollification at the rooms Friday night.

The campaign ran for thirty days. Three teams were competing for the largest number within this given time. The leaders were J. W. Whitaker, yardmaster Southern railway; L. M. Hunter, traveling fireman, W. and A. railroad, and W. T. Hamilton, yard foreman Atlanta Joint Terminal company.

The total number enrolled was 404. This will put the whole membership up to about 800.

The railroad association is strongly organized and is recognized as one of the best in the country.

Thousands of railroad men use the privileges each month, the dormitories alone being occupied 1,485 times during April.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of indies performances at the local theaters are written by members of the Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

ATLANTA—The Girl from Out Yonder.
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and Pictures.

"The Girl From Out Yonder" will be seen in but two more performances at the Atlanta by the Billy Long company. This afternoon a 25-cents matinee is scheduled, while tonight the last presentation of the play will be made. Monday afternoon the company will be seen in "Are You a Mason?" this being the first Monday matinee of the season at the Atlanta. In future three matinees will be given each week, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. "Are You a Mason?" is a farce comedy said to have 1,000 laughs and is one of the most pleasing of all comedies on the stage. With stock companies elsewhere this has proved to be one of the biggest drawing cards of seasons, and it is sure to attract interest here. The Billy Long company now seems surely and safely established in the crowds during the week almost testing the capacity of the house at each performance. Tonight is expected to prove the largest of the week. Seats are now in big demand for next week with every indication of still further increased attendance.

Matinee and night performances today close the engagements of the excellent acts that have advanced the popularity of Keith vaudeville and of the Forsyth so wonderfully during the week. There will be two immense gatherings today, for the advance sale so indicates. The theater-goers have shown great interest in the coming week. A number of theater parties have been arranged for, and the usual heavy advance sale is recorded.

The bill is of exceptional quality, crowded with features and so evenly balanced there will be nothing like conflict. Comedy is to be the principal factor, but there will be some relief in the fact that there will be refreshing variety and unusual variety. The management with the aid of the Keith offices has made a special effort to have this bill a model in every respect.

The headline feature is to be Paul Dickey and his own company presenting a college life sketch called "The Come Back," written by Mr. Dickey founded on facts that he knows. Mr. Dickey was the champion football star of the University of Michigan and led, too, in all athletic sports at the school. In addition he was the leading spirit in the comedy and glee clubs and has always been a popular man with his "frat mates." Another feature will be the first appearance of the Apollo Trio, a group of men who will do living bronze statues.

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR A JUNIOR CHAMBER

Special Committee Meets With School Boys, and Success Is Assured

That the junior order of the Atlanta chamber of commerce is to soon become a reality was made evident Friday afternoon when the special committee from the chamber, headed by Ivan E. Allen, met with a number of school boys to formulate plans for the perfecting of the organization.

Wilmer L. Moore, president of the chamber of commerce, in outlining the work and possibilities of the younger branch, showed two handsomely illustrated books on city planning that are in use in the public schools of Chicago, in view of thepropposed city plan that is to be prepared for Atlanta, this branch of the work for the schools comes at an opportune moment and is expected to be of value should the system be adopted by the board of education.

There was a general discussion of the project from nearly every one present, including R. L. Foreman, Jr., representing the school colony of the city. It was his idea to feature athletics, put on school contests, and have school debates.

The members of the committee are Ivan E. Allen, chairman; A. S. Adams, Jack Lewis, Harrison Jones, Kendall Weisiger, E. L. Goodheart, E. S. Everett, Theo. Toepel, R. L. Foreman, Sr., F. O. Foster, John Gilmore, Dr. J. C. White and R. C. McLarty.

DRY WEATHER IN EASTERN BELT CAUSED COVERING

Market in New York Closed 4 to 8 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 10.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of two points on scattered covering for over the week end, which probably was promoted by the continued failure of the weather map to show any material precipitation in the eastern belt. There were no rallies, owing to the holidays abroad and trading here was very quiet.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—Cotton futures opened steady, 1 point up to 1 point down, compared with yesterday's close. The closing of Liverpool for triple holidays caused dullness in the local market. The weather map was clear and dry, with temperatures showing little change. Complaints of drouth came in from the eastern belt and complaints of low night temperatures were heard of in several sections of the belt. These complaints led to moderate buying for long account and at the start of the first half hour prices were 2 points over 2 points over yesterday's final figures.

The first hour's business was rather quiet, practically the entire belt over Sunday, which is usually the most unfavorable for the east often half. On top of this the forecast predicted cooler weather in the eastern belt which has already made much complaint of low temperatures. Buying has already made much complaint of low temperatures. Buying has already made much complaint of low temperatures. Buying

COMMITTEE APPROVES NEW WHITEHALL GRADE

Street Committee Recommends It to Council—Favors Appropriation Also

The street committee of council Friday afternoon adopted the new grade for Whitehall street, from Mitchell street to Brotherton street, and recommended that the finance committee appropriate $30,000 in the June budget to defray the work.

The estimated cost of the work is $47,288. To the $30,000 which they ask the city to appropriate the property owners promoting the new grade will add $17,000 subscribed among themselves, and to this they hope to get the county to add the equivalent of something like $45,000 in convict labor, all of which combined will be sufficient to complete the Whitehall street portion of the project, they estimate.

Taken as a whole, the project contemplates regrading not only Whitehall street, but also South Forsyth street and several cross streets between Mitchell and Brotherton.

The street committee's adoption of the new grade, of course, will go to council for ratification or rejection. Should council adopt it, but fail to appropriate money for the work, the mere adoption of it would not change the street.

The Friday meeting was the third or fourth time the street committee has had the Whitehall street matter before them, and the same property owners came back to argue both for and against the new grade.

Charles H. Black, R. H. Otis, C. E. Caverly, Walker Dunson, George L. Walker, R. A. Broyles, J. Carroll Payne, M. L. Thrower, V. H. Kriegshaber and others were in favor of the project.

Judge John T. Pendleton, Luther Z. Rosser, F. C. Meyer and others opposed it. Judge Pendleton owns the building occupied by the Capital City laundry. The grade proposes to cut down Whitehall street 7 1-2 feet in front of him, whereas now it is level. He claims such a cut would do him irreparable damage, and brands the whole project as a scheme to enhance the value of the old Trinity Methodist church corner, which was purchased by a syndicate for speculative purposes.

Luther Rosser owns property on Brotherton street, and claims the grade would damage him. F. C. Meyer spoke as attorney for the Guthman laundry, at the corner of Whitehall and Brotherton streets.

He said the new grade, as proposed, would put this company out of business. He said he was willing to lose an arm and a leg, but didn't think it would be right to kill him dead. He urged the adoption of a compromise grade which all parties at interest would agree to.

Councilman Wood, when the discussion ended and the committee were ready to vote, moved to defer action pending an effort to compromise as Mr. Meyer suggested, but the committee voted him down.

BIGGEST BIBLE SCHOOL HOPES TO HOLD TITLE

Sunday, May 11, the last day in the unique contest between the First Christian and Second Baptist Bible schools, promises to be a great success. There has been no let-up in the efforts of the "Flying Squadron" of the First Christian to increase their membership, and an immense crowd will be present at 9:30.

Plans are being perfected by this Bible school for the social entertainment of new scholars by the organized classes. The May feast, May 16, and Flower day, Sunday, May 25, when each scholar brings a bouquet of flowers, that afterward are distributed to the hospitals, police barracks, Old Ladies' home, Home for Incurables, and other institutions, are two plans about worked out.

It is the desire of the First Christian Bible school to hold their title as the largest and best Bible school in Dixie.

NEGRO HELPED SELF TO POCKETS, OWNER LOOKING

When Mrs. M. F. Sullivan was awakened by a noise in her home at 422 Piedmont avenue, just before daybreak Saturday and saw a negro in the hall rifling her husband's trousers, she screamed.

The noise awoke Mr. Sullivan, but the negro completed his job of extracting every cent from the pockets, while the master of the house accustomed his own eyes to the uncertain light.

Then the burglar bolted, with Mr. Sullivan in pursuit, and escaped through an open window downstairs.

Auditorium Program Rendered by Big Chorus Friday—Large Audience There

The pupils of the eighth grades of the public schools, assisted by a selected number from the seventh grades, gave a concert Friday evening at the auditorium. The program was enjoyed by a large audience.

Over 1,000 voices were in the chorus, and the songs were rendered beautifully. Dr. Percy Starnes was the recipient of much praise for his organ accompaniments.

The children from the seventh grades were from the following schools: Crew street, Edgewood avenue, Calhoun street, Formwalt street, Peeples street, Lee street, Pryor street and Williams street.

The program was made up of "Folk Songs of Many Countries."

The chorus was in charge of Miss Kate Haralson, director of music in the schools, and Prof. W. M. Slaton, the superintendent, acted as master of ceremonies.

There were thirty-five of the city schools represented, and all of the different schools came with their respective colors.

The following was the program:

Songs of England—(a) "The Fox Hunt;" (b) "Weel May the Keel Row."

Songs of Scotland—(a) "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton;" (b) "Auld Lang Syne."

Songs of Scotland and France—(a) "Blue Bells of Scotland;" (b) "My Normandy"—Seventh grades.

Songs of Ireland—(a) "Spirit of the Summer Time;" (b) "Isle of Beauty."

Songs of Wales—(a) "The Rising of the Lark;" (b) "Why Lingers My Gaze?"

Songs of Austria and Italy—(a) "The Hills of Tyrol;" (b) "Santa Lucia"—Seventh grades.

Songs of America—(a) "Way Down Upon de Swanee Ribber;" (b) "Dixie;" (c) "Home, Sweet Home."

SCORES TRICKY LAWYERS AND PLETHORA OF LAW

Judge Candler Says 75 Per Cent of Georgia Law Should Be Unwritten

In an address before the students of the Atlanta Law school and members of the local bar, Judge John S. Candler took a fling at the state's representatives, declaring that they have in view but one object—success!—success as it is seen by the world, and declared that so long as this continued, jury verdicts would be looked upon as the result of trickery and adroit juggling.

Dean Hamilton Douglas introduced the speaker, paying a high tribute to him.

Judge Candler delivered an indictment of some of the practices current among some lawyers, and scored the folly of many Georgia laws. He made a direct slap at the methods used in the "third degree," and scored the detectives, who would go on the stand voluntarily and testify in a case on which he had been working.

"Just so long as we make laws by the bookful over summer we will have laws violated. I believe with General Grant that if a law is a bad one, enforce it. That would repeal 75 per cent of the Georgia laws in twenty-four months," said he.

"More crime is committed in Georgia in one year than in all of England and Ireland for just the reason that we have such a useless repetition of laws. we call misdemeanors, all sorts of things, and the statutes cross-fire with the result that the public enforces just about 25 per cent of the laws.

"There is no such thing as the unwritten law in Georgia, except that 75 per cent of the statutes ought to be unwritten, and forgotten. I heartily concur in the opinion of President Taft, who answers those who say there are too many lawyers in congress, That is the place for the lawyer."

FREE ORGAN CONCERTS WILL RESUME ON SUNDAY

There will be a regular free concert at the auditorium-armory Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Several popular numbers from former concerts will be repeated by request. The program will include selections from Flotow, Chaminade, Puccini and Wagner.

Dr. Starnes will also improvise upon the melodies of well known German folk songs. These improvisations of Dr. Starnes always have been delightful features of the Sunday concerts.

The concert begins at 3:30 o'clock sharp. All patrons are requested to be in their seats by that hour.

YOUNG ACTRESSES HURT WHEN AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Were Rounding a Curve Two Miles Beyond Buckhead When Accident Happened

In an auto accident that happened when the car turned turtle as it struck an embankment about two miles beyond uckhead at 1 o'clock Saturday morning, Miss Ethel Ray and Miss Adel Riley, two movie theater actresses playing on Whitehall street, were so badly injured that they had to be taken to the Grady hospital, while their escorts, O. L. McNeil, 514 Empire building, and B. S. Brooks, of the Peachtree garage, escaped with minor bruises. Clarence Ghn, a young usher at the theater, also escaped unhurt.

How the accident occurred neither of the young girls could say. All they knew was that they heard a crash and the next time they became conscious they were in the Grady automobile ambulance racing to the city.

It is understood the car failed to take the curve, and ran up an embankment and turned over, throwing all of its occupants out on the ground. O'Neil was the first to get up, and ran all the way to Buckhead to give the alarm. He fainted just as he made known his errand. Then someone telephoned to the hospital.

All were taken to the Grady, where their wounds were dressed. Miss Riley was able to leave in an automobile, and went directly to her room in Child's hotel. Miss Ray was more seriously injured, and is still at the hospital.

Vice-president, Dr. N. Peterson, of Tifton.

Secretary, Dr. C. T. Nolan, of Marietta, re-elected.

The other members of the board are Dr. Fred D. Peterson, of Cuthbert, and Dr. F. M. Ridley, of LaGrange.

The annual examination of young physicians applying for state licenses is being held by the board at the capitol. The examination began Thursday and will conclude Saturday at noon.

A SIMPLE RECIPE BRINGS MUCH MONEY

Eat anything and digest everything by adding Waw-Waw is what a noted English singer has said. Waw-Waw contains a vegetable which was proclaimed by a distinguished French doctor to the young singer, who had suffered with stomach trouble, as having wonderful digestive properties and he made a sauce containing this vegetable, which he added to his food, and sold the recipe for a large sum to a company. Waw-Waw is absolutely unlike any other sauce, yet in flavor it resembles a Worcestershire, although the ingredients used are quite different. The great cooks of Europe have pronounced it unexcelled. The name Waw-Waw is an obselete South American Indian word for vegetable. It contains no raw spices, coloring matter and is guaranteed absolutely pure. When added in the cooking or with soups, salads, hot and cold meats and fish it gives a flavor unequalled, and at the same time notice how easily you digest anything. Half a teaspoon with water or taken plain cleans the palate and is a wonderful appetizer. Waw-Waw is supplied to the House of Lords and Commons, England, and to the principal hotels and homes throughout the world. A 25-cent bottle from your local grocer will convince you how much more you will enjoy your food and at the same time how very easily you can digest anything.

Give the Kiddies Lots of Sweets

That old notion of sweets disagreeing with children is all wrong. The best and biggest physicians say, "Eat sweets, your body needs them." They say that when your palate craves candy, satisfy the desire, because some hungry tissue requires it—but you ought to make the candy you give the kiddies yourself, and you ought to make it with in the red can, because it's the very best syrup for candy-making that your money can buy. It gives a real tang to candy that you can't get with any other syrup—and the very first can of Velva you use will prove that what we say about it is so. It's just fine for cakes, too, and other baking. Yes, buy Velva in the clean, sanitary can. Buy it often and give the kiddies sweets. You can get Velva in the green cans, too, at your grocer's if you prefer it.

Divinity Fudge

Part 1.—3-4 cup Red Velva Syrup, 1 oz. chocolate, 1-2 cup water, 3 cups sugar, 1 teaspoonful almond extract.

Part 2.—1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup water, whites of 3 eggs, 1 cup chopped nut meats, 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract.

Boil part one until a little hardens in cold water. Boil part two (without egg whites, nuts and extract) until it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water; remove from stove, pour gradually into stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating all the time. Then beat it into part one. Now beat the mixture for 20 minutes, add nuts and vanilla extract and pour into buttered tins or plates. Cool and cut in squares. The chocolate may be omitted.

Send for the book of Velva Recipes. No charge.

The President's Independence of Tammany.

There could be no stronger evidence of President Wilson's thorough independence of Tammany than his appointment of John Purroy Mitchel as Collector of the Port of New York. Mr. Mitchel, now president of the Board of Aldermen of that city, is a young Democrat who has consistently and boldly opposed the Tammany ring in general and Boss Murphy in particular. He was elected to his present office by more than seventy-two thousand votes as an opponent of the Murphy candidate. The New York World describes him with enthusiasm as being "not a hack politician, not a professional office seeker, nobody's man but one who has won repute for his mastery of public accounts and his hostility to corrupt officials."

Mr. Wilson's choice in this as in all instances where the bestowal of important public trusts are involved was unreservedly independent. Mr. Mitchel's name was not among those that had been urged by interested senators and cabinet members. The President listened with respect and cordial appreciation to all suggestions but when the moment for a decision came it was his own judgment that directed him. He satisfied his own sense of what was right and best and the chorus of approval that has followed the appointment indicates that he has satisfied the public as well.

It is this frank and thoroughgoing independence that makes the President the true leader of his party and a leader of the nation. Not for a moment has he ever compromised with political bosses or political machines. His unswerving hostility to the Smith-Nugent machine in New Jersey is repeated in his policy of ignoring Tammany influences. This straightforward course earns him the unqualified confidence of good citizens everywhere and enables him to serve the people without hindrance.

Huerta is determined that Mexico shall keep to its reputation for turbulence.

Federal Aid for Good Roads.

Indications are that in the not distant future Congress will adopt a definite and more or less extensive plan for co-operation between the State and federal governments in the construction and maintenance of public highways.

The first practical step toward this end was taken in the preceding Congress when a fund of five hundred thousand dollars was included in the postoffice appropriation to be devoted to experimental work of this character. At the same time a committee was appointed to investigate and report upon the feasibility of State and federal co-operation in road building. The sum allotted is to be expended under the joint direction of the postoffice department and the department of agriculture. The work thus to be undertaken has been outlined and will soon be under way in different groups of States.

There can be no doubt as to the wisdom of national government aiding the various commonwealths in the building of good roads, if efficient methods are employed. Most of the States are fast awakening, if they have not already awakened, to the importance of well built and well kept highways and in many instances large amounts of money have been appropriated to this end either by the legislatures or through bond issues in the separate counties.

It is thus evident that the States would respond in a generous and businesslike spirit to any worthy policy of road development which Congress might adopt. If we are to have a national system of good roads, comparable to those of France and other Old World countries, the federal government must take the lead or at least bear its due portion of the enterprise. It is to be hoped that a well considered bill with this end in view will soon be introduced and pass Congress.

We continue to be optimistic. There'll be a good peach crop, and not all canned peaches, either.

On the Way to Victory.

If well begun is half done, Atlanta is virtually assured of the 1914 convention of American Shriners. The skill and energy and irresistible enthusiasm which this city has thrown into its contest have attracted nation-wide notice and blazed a shining way for the Atlanta caravan that left Friday night for Dallas.

The entire country has heard of Atlanta's remark*able feat in raising more than seventy-five thousand* dollars within a single day for the entertainment of the great convention.

It knows of the city's ample hotel facilities, of the railway service that links this community to every corner of the Union, of the varied and continuous entertainment that awaits the visitors and of the overbrimming hospitality of that will bid them welcome and cheer every moment of their stay.

In these circumstances, there is every reason to expect that the mission of the Atlanta Shriners who left for Dallas Friday night will be brilliantly successful. They were cheered on their way by a crowd of more than two thousand citizens. They carry with them such an abundance of convincing evidence and high enthusiasm that they will doubtless take the Dallas meeting by storm and return with the prize they seek.

Steady Results.

The substantial progress of the anti-tuberculosis campaign is evidenced by the fact that within the past decade the death rate from this disease in the United States has decreased from one hundred and seventy-four to one hundred and thirty-nine per hundred thousand of the population.

In communities where vigorous and well organized crusades of prevention and relief have been conducted the results are still more manifest. The record shows, for instance, that in New York mortality from tuberculosis has been reduced from two hundred and eighty per hundred thousand in 1881 to one hundred and eighty in 1912. This percentage is, to be sure, higher than the average which has been attained, yet it indicates what persistent and intelligent efforts can accomplish in the most crowded cities and under particularly adverse circumstances.

The steady conquest of the white plague is due chiefly to the campaign of education which has been pressed forward so earnestly throughout the Union and throughout the world. It has been only within the past few years that the public mind and conscience have really awakened to the need of organized endeavor against this disease. In times gone by it was regarded as an individual misfortune in which the community had no practical or intimate concern. Today it is recognized in its social aspect and cities *and States are realizing the need of organized, well-*financed and well directed resistance. The results of the past ten years will be far exceeded during the ten to come and it is not too much to hope that eventually tuberculosis will almost, if not entirely, be banished from the earth.

Atlantians can best do their part in this great crusade by suporting and encouraging the efforts of the local Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Nurses' asso*ciation. This organization is working earnestly and* efficiently. Its methods are those which have achieved such noteworthy results throughout the country. Upon its faithful labors depends very largely the progress of this community in overcoming tuberculosis.

An Index to Sanitation.

In the course of a recent lecture on "The Evolution of Modern Medicine," Sir William Osler, the famous scientist and physician, remarked: "The fly population has come to be regarded as the index of a city's healthfulness."

Certain it is that a community which is overswarmed with flies is neither a safe nor inviting place of residence. The presence of these infectious insects is a sure sign that sanitary safeguards have been neglected. They are the offspring of uncleanliness and the messengers of disease.

Flies are winged indictments against the city's or the individual's disregard of sanitation. Once considered merely as a nuisance, they are now proved by science to be a positive and insidious peril. They are dangerous first of all within themselves, but they bring annually alarming evidence of the hidden or neglected sources of contagion.

As the summer season draws near, with its unusual tax upon energy and health, every household should think of Sir William Osler's *remark and con*sult the index to its own sanitation. It should remember that flies are the outcome of carelessness at one point or another and that watchfulness and precautions will banish them or at least reduce them to a minimum.

The city itself is responsible for the larger measures of sanitation, but without constant co-operation from the individual the health authorities can accomplish little.

The campaign against flies is now nationwide. In seasons past it has been pressed with particular vigor and effectiveness in Atlanta. Let it be waged this year more earnestly than ever before and we shall be spared much of the discomfort and disease which is commonly incident to summer.

THE INCOME TAX

III.—FIXING THE RATES.
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

When the ways and means committee of the house came to adopt the pending income tax bill as a part of the new tariff measure, there were many things it had to consider, but none of them of more importance or of wider bearing than the question of rates. Of course, the first test of an income tax law in this country in particular, and in the world in general, is that it shall stand up under the stress of public sentiment. The universal experience has been that income taxes are unpopular at best when they are first levied. In time of great war crises, when nations realize that their very existence depends upon drastic revenue measures, the people have been patient when income taxes have been levied even upon the smallest incomes. But in times of peace it has required a long process of education to get the people to accept income taxation as a fair plan of raising revenue.

In the present instance it has been hoped that these troublesome experiences in the readjustment of the public mind may be overcome in large measure by making the burdens of the tax fall upon the shoulders of those who are able to bear it, and to make it descend upon them so lightly that no man will have to turn his face toward the poor house as a result. While the first effort was to ascertain the probable income that will be brought into the treasury under the new tariff duties. This in itself is a task of large proportions and one in which there are so many unfixable factors except by experience, that at best the calculations may shoot wide of the mark. If it were possible to know what the volume of importations will be under the new law the rest would be easy. But that depends on so many things—the state of the public mind, the efforts of home manufacturers to readjust themselves to the competitive conditions to which it will give birth and a number of other conditions which defy accurate measure.

With this in mind, and recalling the experience of the Wilson law and the overestimate of the revenues that would be collected through it, the only course upon which the committee could safely calculate was to assume a safe minimum below which it would scarcely be possible for the country's importations to go, and to estimate the customs revenues thereupon. Using this as the basis of its estimates, the committee calculated that the total revenues under the forthcoming customs laws will amount approximately to $235,000,000. Now, the other income of the government amounts to about $630,000,000, including postal revenues, and the total annual disbursements of the government, including postal expenditures, approximate $950,000,000. It, therefore, follows that if the government is to keep even it must raise $320,000,000 a year by customs revenues and income taxes other than the corporation tax. So, if the tariff duties yield $265,000,000, it also follows that the personal income tax must afford a revenue of $55,000,000.

With this situation in mind, the question next turned upon the amount of taxable personal incomes there are in the United States. Having decided that $4,000 shall be exempt, in order to prevent the tax from being burdensome, and that only such income as is above that amount is taxable, it became a problem to measure the number of people in the United States who get more than $4,000 a year, and the total amount of their excess of income over their exemptions. And the standards by which it might accurately be measured do not exist. We know that about 55,000 corporations out of nearly 300,000 are enjoying incomes of more than $5,000, or only a few more than one out of six. And we also know that with the exemption at $1,000 and even less after and during the Civil war, there were comparatively few taxpayers. It is also plain, when one counts noses among those about whose incomes he knows something, that there are comparatively few who get $4,000 a year, but further than that no one knows accurately, and the best that can be done is to borrow a page from English experience and then compare our own situation as closely as may be.

A few years ago England had taxable incomes, with an exemption up to $800, amounting to $2,500,000,000. Of this (and these figures reckon $5 to the pound sterling, which is, of course, a little over the real value), incomes of from $800 to $2,000 contributed $850,000,000, incomes ranging from $2,000 and $5,500 contributed $300,000,000, and incomes ranging between $5,500 and $5,000 contributed $445,000,000. Assuming that the natural proportion of this $445,000,000 was contributed by incomes ranging between $5,500 and $4,000, it will be seen that of the total incomes amounting to $3,600,000,000, approximately $2,150,000,000 represents incomes in excess of $4,000.

Figuring upon a comparative basis of national wealth and population we find the national wealth of the United States is one and five-eighths times as great as that of England, and if income bears the same ratio to wealth in both countries there would be taxable incomes amounting to about $3,500,000,000 in the United States. Assuming that the average of taxable incomes would take a 2 per cent rate, the total taxes would approximate $70,000,000, which would, however, include the corporation tax.

Proof That Dogs Reason

(W. Carter Platts in the Field.)

I could relate dog stories I have heard till the proverbial "further orders"—dog stories that are more entertaining, perhaps, than convincing—but to the truth of the foregoing and what now follows I am prepared to subscribe on oath.

At one time I had a collie dog who at times displayed powers which, if we deny to him the possession of reason, are absolutely inexplicable to me. He was a rather "serious minded" dog, not given to aimless frivolities. Upon one occasion I was walking with him along the towing path of a canal when I found a small inflated rubber ball. He was fond of water, so I flung the ball ahead into the canal and told him to fetch it.

Instantly he dashed into the water, swam to the ball, brought it to me on the bank and laid it at my feet. Thereupon I picked it up and threw it in again, telling him to fetch it. This time he showed a distinct lack of responsiveness, and it was only after considerable persuasion that he retrieved the ball a second time. I then threw the ball into the canal a third time, telling the dog to fetch it. For a long time he refused. I persisted, when he suddenly plunged into the water once more, steadily swam out to the ball, took it in his mouth, as steadily swam on to the opposite side of the canal, dropped the ball on the bank there—where I could not get it again—recrossed the canal and steadily came to me. And neither coaxing nor threats were of the slightest avail in inducing him to fetch that ball.

A MAN'S COUNTRY

By DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

Mme. Pedrazza, who was Miss Clark, of Buffalo, returned to America after an absence of five years. She married a Spaniard. Although entirely contented herself she condemns marriages between American girls and Europeans.

"Spain," she says, "is essentially a man's country. The women are half a century behind the times. Not even a married woman is supposed to go out alone in the street by day or by night. The American girl either rebels against the artificial restrictions or they break her spirit."

That phraze, "a man's country," is a bit of thought-radium, and sends sharp rays in all directions.

"A man's country." That is what is the matter with Spain, also of all continental Europe, and in still more marked degree of the Asiatic Orient and of savage Africa.

Wherever you find a man's country you find fixity of absurd custom, ancient fraud buttressed and impregnable, injustice established by law and maintained by force. Mexico is a man's country.

Government from which women are excluded becomes rotten.

Anything from which women are shut out becomes feeble and offensive.

If there is anything I detest it is a room where men only are supposed to congregate.

The reason the American bar is a dirty place and the French, German or Italian drinking resort is usually perfectly respectable and cheery is that men only are in the one and ladies also frequent the other.

The entrance of young women into downtown offices has elevated the tone of these offices 100 per cent.

A woman's place is everywhere. For wherever she goes she invariably brings decency and brightness.

I know of no place on earth where there are more gloams to the square inch than a man's club. It is as exclusive as Sahara. It is about as hard to get acquainted in one of them as it is to form acquaintances on the street.

A man-only school or college is a holdover from mediaeval days. The boys tend to become either little bullies or little prigs.

Nature designed the sexes to mingle freely. The best thing in the world for a boy is to associate daily with nice girls.

Woman is a born civilizer. Whenever possible she ought to be side by side with man; otherwise he runs down at the heel and becomes second-class generally.

Women appreciate literature, art, government and religion more than men do. About all most men are good for is to make money, a business sadly overrated. As Charlie Case used to say, "Woman is superior to man in every way; shape and form."

The only reason I am satisfied to be a man is that I have the privilege of living with a woman. Think of having to live with men only!

Tradition has it that the angels are all male. There are no she-angels mentioned in the Bible. If I get to heaven and find it is for men only I surely will look for another place.

FRANTIC FABLES

BY HENRY HORSECOLLAR.

When I was born my father was president of Mexico. He was president for twenty-two minutes. The new president made him chief executioner, and one night my father concealed his axe and chopping block under his doublet and entered the palace disguised as an Armenian bead merchant. In two hours he had chopped off the heads of all the inmates and restored himself to power.

He had been president for twenty-four hours. One day he came home for lunch and on returning to the royal palace was surprised to notice that the palace was missing.

The rebels had pinched it.

My father was so enraged that he ordered out the standing army and commanded them to cut off the heads of everybody who had their hair parted in the middle.

The standing army numbered twenty-two men. This day there were only twenty-two. The other two were at a matinee.

The standing army got as far as the first cafe, where they went in for a chili con carne and a mug of bock. When it came time to pay no one had any money, and the bartender had them all arrested.

While they were in jail the head barber in the Hot Tamale Hotel started a revolution. He collected an army of twelve men, but the thing petered out because they refused to fight a battle unless they could take out an hour for luncheon.

In the meantime my father was looking around for the palace, when he stubbed his toe on something, fell, and hurt his knee.

This enraged him so that he ordered the heads of everybody cut off who parted their hair on the side.

At dinner the fish balls weren't done enough. This enraged my father so that he ordered the heads of every one cut off who wore side whiskers.

After dinner his knee grew worse.

This enraged him so that he ordered another bunch of heads chopped off.

After a while father had ordered off so many heads that there were none left to chop. This enraged him so that he cut off mother's and little Bill's.

Father is saving my head for his next fit of temper.

Swet and low, sweet and low,
Hear 'em blow—oh—oh—
Wind of the west, come and rest,
On my breast, in the nest,
Hear 'em crooning, silver mooning,

Come and sleep, little one, sleep,
Do that creep, don't you weep,
Blow, blow, do that slow,
Do that low, oh, oh, that Tennyson glide!

May 5.—Early up and to my office, and asking for the galley-proof of some verses I had fashioned yesterday and mailed in the post last night at nine o'clock, James, my copy-lad did say there was no proof and no manuscript. So to the post-office to find out why the great mistake but could find no satisfaction soever, and no manuscript neither. So, very angry and distrait, I must fashion other verses, which I did, but not enjoying to. Thence to Princeton by Mr. Rhea's train and J. Thence to a dinner of the comick paper, The Tiger, and at table I did meet the pleasantest, finest lads ever I saw together, and Mr. Clarley Orth and Mr. Azoy very droll in speaking, and I glad of being there. Too I did meet Mr. John Hibben the president and him I liked very greatly, and the straight and sincere manner of him. Thence to the city by train and labouring all the morning The letter I mailed on Sunday evening did arrive this morning, taking 35 hrs. to travel 4 mi., which I hope Mr. Morgan the postmaster may hear of. To the halpark and met there John Adams the artist and we very merry together. Home to dinner, where are come W. J. Heimann the chyrurgeon and his wife, and much pleasant discourse in the evening.

BUT PERSONAL JOURNALISM IS EXTINCT.
(From the Mount Pleasant (N. Y.) Compass.)

From time to time, in the sub-cellars of their homes, on the street corners and occasionally in the columns of the "Morgue" or one of its subsidized contemporaries, criticisms are made of statements published in the columns of this newspaper. These criticisms when made in print are made anonymously and when made in conversation are made in a skulking manner that insures immunity.

For the benefit of its readers and for their assurance that nothing but the truth is printed in our columns, this newspaper now issues a challenge to all these skulking and cowardly falsifiers. The challenge is open to all and no man is barred from accepting it whatever his station in life may be.

The editor of this newspaper will meet in joint debate, on any topic treated in the columns of this newspaper, any individual or group of individuals.

Now let the anonymous critics and sidewalk conversational artists step forward and speak if they have red blood in their veins.

BOYS' HIGH CINCHES PREP RAG, DOWNING MARIST 13 TO 4

BY B. H. TORRANCE.

The league-leading Boys' High baseball team, with an unbroken record of victories to their credit, on Wednesday met and defeated the Marist college nine by the decisive score of 13 to 4.

The game, played on the Marist campus, was a one-sided affair (after the fifth inning), as the Marist team played ragged ball, making a number of errors and showing a lack of ability to solve Fox's delivery to advantage. On the other hand, the High school boys played a great game throughout, driving Callahan from the box, and hitting his successor rather freely. The only error charged against team came in the last few minutes of play, and did not result seriously. Boys' High outplayed Marist in every department of the game, and Coach Bean's lads were utterly unable to stop the rallies of the High school men.

Callahan started the game with a rush, striking out the first three men to face him on ten pitched balls. For four innings he held B. H. S. runless, while his teammates brought home two tallies, one in the first and one in the second. The first run was the result of a base on balls by Cheeves, an infield out and a hit by Lowry.

In the second, Harrison doubled, Callahan hit to center, Fox hit McGrath and Harrison scored on Wright's single.

In the fifth, B. H. H. began to wake up and find Callahan's curves. As a result of three hits and two errors, three runs were made by the Boys' High men.

In the sixth, however, B. H. S. touched the fence and started the fireworks. When the smoke cleared away, the Marist team was shot to pieces, Callahan had been knocked from the box and eight runners had scored across the plate.

Spurlock started the onslaught upon the Marist hurler by knocking to Wright. Cheeves let the throw get by him, and in an effort to catch Spurlock at second threw the ball into center field, whereupon Spurlock scored. Before the inning was over, B. H. S. had run through the batting order twice, and each time Sam Armistead, High school's sterling catcher, had hammered out a safety. In this inning runs were made by Spurlock, Armistead, Smith, Floyd, Weaver, Fox, Johnston and Reynolds.

In the seventh, Pace went into the box for Marist. High school added two more in the eighth on a single by Reynolds and doubles by Spurlock and Armistead.

Marist secured one in the eighth and another in the ninth.

Fox pitched steadily for Boys' High throughout the game, keeping his hits well scattered, and effectively baffling Marist batsmen. At no time was he pushed to his limit, and after his teammates had secured a safe lead, he was content to let holding his opponents in check, although he was effective at all times.

The whole B. H. S. team played first-class ball, and if they continue at their present stride the Prep league pennant is theirs.

FORSWALT STREET

The seventh grade feels very proud of the fact that three of its pupils are representatives were selected from their grade. They are Robert Smith, class A; Minerva Smith, class A; Norma Harmon, class B. The other representative for class B is Lillie Harrington, of the sixth grade.

On Friday, May 2, our school enjoyed its annual frolic, which was a peanut hunt. It was a very enjoyable affair. The sight of five hundred children and visiting scampering for the peanuts was worth beholding. In twenty minutes there was hardly a peanut to be seen on the ground and every one's pockets, sacks and even buckets were brimful.

The seventh grade sold the most tickets, thus capturing the coveted prize, a beautiful picture. Minerva Smith and Mary Lemond of this grade, in selling the most tickets, each sold divided the individual prize, one dollar.

We were delighted to hear that Roy Mandrick, senior at the Boys' High school, and the honor boy of Formwalt, class of 1909, is to be one of the three boys chosen to speak at the graduation exercises.

The fourth, sixth seventh and eighth grades' usual routine of duties were broken into on Friday for the fourth and sixth went to Ponce de Leon park to practice for the drill and the seventh and eighth to the auditorium to practice for the concert.

As the championship series approaches, Formwalt feels more certain that they will be in the finals to contest for the pennant. It looks now as if Edgewood would be our opponent. This suits us exactly, for we have the most friendly feeling in the world for this north side rival. This is quite natural, for Miss Stamps, their principal, was with us for four years as our assistant principal and we have been very much interested in their success. Having won both our games this week, the one against Georgia avenue with a score of 12 to 6, and the one against G. W. Adair, 14 to 8, and still preserving our per cent of 1,000, we hope to come out victorious in the end. This remains to be seen, however, and if we lose to Edgewood we will show them that we are just as good losers as winners, and that is saying a good deal, for all the three years in grammar grade league Formwalt has never been out of first place.

Our boys appeared in all the glory of their new suits in the game Tuesday and we are prouder of them than ever. The whole school is supporting them and wishing them success.

Our school has had three unfortunate accidents this week. First, Alex Rosenfeld, of the sixth grade, was run over by a street car and his hand badly crushed. Olga Peters, of the fifth grade, was severely bitten by a bulldog. Then today the sad news came that Fred Wilhelm, of the seventh, had burned his hand very badly. We wish them all a speedy recovery.

SPECIALS AT MARIST COP FROM CHAMPIONS OF GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

BY HOWARD M'CALL, JR.

Marist college proved Friday afternoon that she has not lost all of her athletics and her athletic spirit. The Marist boys ran away from the other schools in the annual prep track meet. At the end, the score stood: Marist 52 1-2, Tech High school 25 and G. M. A. 12 2-3. Coach Bean has an aggregation of runners, jumpers and weight men that is hard to beat. Out of ten events, Marist got seven firsts, five seconds and four thirds.

Ralph Lewis, of Marist, wins the gold medal for scoring the most points, 16. Fowler, of Marist, was next, with 15. The other Marist point winners were: Allen 10, Roberts 5, Cheves 3, Lowry 2 Cocke 1 and Styer 1-2.

The only new record hung up was in the pole vault. Roberts, of Marist, cleared the bar at 9 feet 6 inches. Allen tied his last year's 10 4-5 seconds for the hundred. Smith starred for G. M. A., scoring 10 points, getting first in running high and broad jumps. Myers was Tech High's feature, scoring 11 points, being first in shot put.

The baseball team lost another game Wednesday. This was to Boys' High school. Marist scored two in the first and was confident of winning. However, misfortunes and bad plays will happen, and a balloon came down and took our boys up in the air in the fifth and six innings. B. H. S. scored eleven runs then. Callahan pitched a fine game until that time, when the infield went up and "Callie" weakened a little. In the first inning out of ten balls pitched to the High school batters, nine were strikes and one was a ball. The batters did not touch the ball. It just seems as if it is not Marist's year to win in baseball.

If the varsity cannot win, the Specials can. They played Formwalt Street school (the winner of the Public School league) for the championship of the city and easily defeated them by a 7 to 3 score. The feature of the game was the battery work of Wiggins and Liddell, of the Specials, and the batting of Adair and Jones, of the same team. They Boy Scouts were also defeated by the Specials by a score of 9 to 6. Hanlon's pitching and the batting of Jones and fielding of Adair featured the fast game.

HILL STREET SCHOOL

The sixth grade children are still corresponding with the children in London. Last week Marion William received a newspaper from a girl in Woolwich, a suburb of oLndon. It had much interesting news in it among which was how the king and queen of England visited Woolwich.

A visitor from Mrs. Elwood, our drawing director, and Miss Smith, her assistant, was enjoyed by the whole school.

The third grade children were glad to see Lilla Hardegree back after a long absence on account of illness.

The 4A kept the spelling banner three times last week while the 2A had it twice. Miss Williams, our 2A teacher, gave her children a picnic at Grant Park on Monday as a reward for the good work that the little folks have done during the year.

We think the "penny luncheon" should not be sold in the Atlanta Public schools for many reasons. Any lunch when prepared right costs more than one cent and when the children get it for one penny they get charity. If the board of education has enough money to give as charity to 25,000 children let it not give it through penny lunches. We would rather have the money for books, auditoriums, grading school yards, flowers, pictures, desks, etc. Our mothers know what is best for us and they can prepare the lunches for us. Penny lunches teach the children to spend money and not to eat what their mothers give them and this will be a cause for much trouble at home.

SIMS AND BLACK WIN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP OF PEACOCK SCHOOL

BY A. C. M'PHAIL.

The tennis tournament which has been under way for the past week or more among the tennis "sharks" of Peacock-Fleet was completed yesterday morning on the East Lake courts. The tourney was a thorough success, and the close matches proved that P.-F. S. really has some champions when it comes to racquet wielding game.

Roff Sims downed all comers in the singles and by putting out Eugene Black in the finals proved himself the undisputed recipient of the championship honors in that branch of the game.

Sims won first honors also in the tournament held last spring.

In the doubles Black and Sims won first honors by outplaying Orme, C. and Hopkins.

The last two rounds were as follows:

SINLGES.

Semi-finals—Black defeated Sams 6-4, 2-6, 9-7; Black defeated Beall, 6-0, 6-0.

Finals—Sims defeated Black, 6-3, 6-4.

DOUBLES.

Semi-finals—Black and Sims defeated Knox and Hunnicutt, 6-1, 0-2, Orme, C.and Hopkins defeated Howard, G. and Scott, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Finals—Black and Sims defeated Orme, C. and Hopkins, 6-2, 6-2.

It is very probable that the winners of this tournament will play the winners of the recent Boys' High tourney, although this has not been definitely settled. If a match is played, however, we expect to prove Peacock's superiority when it comes to tennis.

GRANT PARK SCHOOL.

Mrs. Osgood came to our school on Tuesday. We are always glad to see her because her talks are so instructive. Miss Smith visited the primary grades at the same time.

The eighth grade is glad to have one of their brightest pupils, Louise Lewis, back again. She has been absetn quite a while on account of illness.

Our yard is very attractive now. The Virginia creeper which covers one side of our building is pretty and green, and have several rose bushes covered with blooms.

The pupils of the eighth grade are looking forward eagerly to their concert on Friday evening. We are going to sing our very best songs that we will have a large audience to hear us.

On last Friday our team played a very exciting double-header at Grant park. They succeeded in defeating Crew and Fraser in one afternoon. Again on Tuesday they met Crew at Brisbine park and came off with the victory.

We expect to have a fine representation at field day, which occurs next Saturday. We intend to do our best with all their might. We have entered several contestants for the jumping and running and we might walk off with some of the honors.

The spelling banner was won by the sixth grade and fourth grade B last week and the attendance banner by the fifth grade and third grade B.

DONNA JEANNE BENSON.

TENTH STREET.

The Mothers' association met on Wednesday, April 30, to discuss school affairs. Refreshments were served. Mr. Lawton B. Evans, superintendent of the Augusta and Richmond county schools, made an interesting and instructive talk on the relations between parent and teacher and child. Miss Collins, state organizer of the mothers' associations, was present and made a helpful talk.

The children of the sixth and fifth grades are making a success of their flag drill for field day. The children of the fourth grade also dance the rounded pretty for the same occasion. We shall feel proud of our children when we see them taking part in this beautiful exercise.

The eighth grade children expect to do their part towards the concert Friday evening at the auditorium. They appreciate the fact that Dr. Starnes will play the organ for them.

We send Mansfield Matthews from class A and Albert Jordan from class B to represent the Tenth street school Field day. Our baseball team announces that it will play any other school team in the city. As we cannot win the north side championship ourselves, we hope that Edgewood, on the north side, will beat Formwalt for the cup.

Our yard is beginning to look well; shrubbery and plants are arranged nicely in front and all the trees that were set out in the spring are growing fast.

Dr. Claud Smith's fly exhibit on the school wall has made all take interest, and everybody in the lower grades is busy swatting flies; not in school hours, however.

EASTMAN HUNTER.

EDGEWOOD SCHOOL

Last week our principal called us out in athletics to see who would be sponsors. The sixth grade is a very athletic class. It seems, having won the two plagues both for the girls and boys, now being able to send to field day eighteen sponsors, eleven of which were girls and seven boys.

Fifth grade B and the sixth, met in the sixth grade room one evening this week to make the capes which they were to wear the drill at field day, and these little pupils will enjoy having them, so much more when they can say that made them themselves.

Fifth grade A also had a sewing party Saturday morning.

Miss Haralson made us a visit this week to see how we were getting along in our songs for the concert Friday night, and, of course, when she left she gave our principal an excellent report on the eighth grade. We have not missed "excellent" one time this year, and while not bragging, we hope to keep this up to the end of the year. We have been practicing very hard for the concert and think after all this hard work we should make a fine showing.

Our boys also can do something beside sing, and work arithmetic, as they are still leading the league and hope to stay there the remainder of the season. They are very anxious to win the south side pennant, and have a chance for the loving cup.

We have not forgotten our flowers, if we are in the midst of baseball, athletics, etc., and are still working faithfuly to win the prize offered again this year.

MILDRED REILS.

G. M. A. GOES INTO ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT AT LAKEWOOD

On Monday morning the entire cadet corps, under the command of Lieutenant J. P. Castleman, U. S. A., went into camp at the beautiful suburban park of Lakewood. Everything had been put in readiness for the camp, and without any delay the tents were pitched in a most soldierly manner. The academy has been equipped with the "pup" tents by the war department, and the camp presents a very beautiful and symmterical appearance—being laid off in perfect squares, each one of which is occupied by a full company.

The life in camp is one great round of outdoor pleasure and recreation in a military way. The boys have to police the grounds of the camp daily, keeping everything clean and in order. All of the cooking is done in an open-screened kitchen and the meats are all barbecued. Swimming and boating are enjoyed to ra couple of hours each day.

In the evenings the large pavilion is filled with friends of the academy who are invited to the dances. On Monday evening the guests were friends from Colleyville Park and Atlanta were entertained. On Tuesday evening the young ladies from Washington seminary will be the honor guests. On Wednesday evening the girls from Woodberry are invited, and on Thursday and Friday evenings the Washington seminary and Girls' High school of Atlanta will be entertained.

ONLY TEN DAYS ELAPSE BEFORE COMMENCEMENT AT WASHINGTON SEMINARY

As the time for the close of school draws near, preparations are being made in all the private schools for the most auspicious commencements that these several schools have ever known. As usual the private institutions close at an earlier date than the public schools, and the graduating exercises of the girls' schools are widespread affections. The first of these to be held will probably be the Washington seminary exercises. All class work at the school will practically cease after this week, and the remaining three days of the week after, before the graduation on Wednesday, will be taken up in closing up the affairs of school life, and the entertainments and parties to be given to the seniors by the members of the class and the friends of the school. This year has been one of the most successful that the school has ever had. The school was moved from the old location on North avenue at the start of the term to the present home on Peachtree road, and the change itself is one of the most up-to-date in the city in point of equipment and attention to lighting and sanitation. There were some 300 in attendance, the senior class is the largest in the history of the institution.

INTERESTING DEBATES AT PRYOR BY EIGHTH GRADE STUDENTS

On Wednesday and Thursday the upper grades of our school enjoyed two excellent debates. Wednesday ten girls from the Eighth A debated on the subject "Resolved, That Queen Elizabeth was justified in signing Mary Stuart's death warrant." The speeches of great logical value, the judges retired and finally gave the verdict in favor of the negative side.

The following debate on Panama canal tolls was more on the line of the fiery eloquence of Cicero. The subject was "Resolved, That the ships engaging the Panama canal should pay toll." The speakers were, affirmative, leader, Hugh Davis; Lee Wilkie, William Steele, Jr., and Earle Dean; on the negative, leader, Newton Catlett; Clyde Kimball, Carl Jones and Will McMurry. Mr. Steele made an extract from one of Mr. Taft's speeches on this subject, and several on the negative as well as the affirmative had pieces of poetry to illustrate their view. After each had spoken, the leaders had the final battle. The judges then withdrew and announced that the affirmative had won, although the negative had fought hard. Then followed a hearty good-will handshaking and general good feeling was restored.

Another interesting event of the week was a contest in the fifth. The enormous word "consanguinity" was chosen on account of its length to use in seeing how many words could be gotten out of it. Margaret Grainger came first and Walter Thomas close second. The winner enjoyed an exceptionally fine box of candy.

The fifth, with an attendance as usual, with 99.22, but with the first B close behind. We are very proud of our attendance.

OAKLAND CITY.

We are all very glad that we won one of the prizes during April. Some of the children worked very hard. Our total amount of names was 2,600. Louise Bell succeeded in the greatest number of names. She had 496.

Dr. Toepel and Miss Graves came last week to see how our fourth and sixth grades were getting along in their drill for Field day. They have worked very hard. Miss Graves thought that they were one of the best in the city.

Miss Milledge visited our primary grades. She was delighted with their music. She reported the first, second and third grades excellent.

Miss Harralson also came to hear the fourth and sixth grades sing their songs for Field day. She seemed very much pleased with their work.

We hope that some of our boys and girls will win some of the prizes Saturday at Field day.

Baldwin Farmers Want Rain

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., May 10.—Baldwin county farmers have been retarded in their work considerably for the past few days by the dry weather and planting of cotton has been hindered very much. With two weeks of seasonable weather, however, the situation would be greatly changed.

UNITED DAUGHTERS TO PRESENT MEDAL TO BEST ATHLETE AT B. H. S.

The regular monthly meeting of the Alciphronian Literary and Debating society was held in the hall at Boys' High yesterday, with the vice president, Spencer Folsom, presiding. Before the start of the regular program, the student body was addressed by Prof. Dykes on the subject of the condition of the athletic affairs of the school. He commended the baseball team for the spirit they have shown in winning the prep championship, and also made a few remarks on the track work of the school. He announced that the money left over from the baseball team would be used to buy the sweaters for which the track team has been contending. Announcement was also made that the United States Daughters had presented a medal to the school to be given at the close of the term to the boy who has made the most physical improvement during the year. At present it looks to the outsider that Edwin Lochridge, track champion of the school, is the most likely contender for the trophy.

Notice has been sent to the four high schools by the chamber of commerce that a prize of $10 in gold will be awarded the pupil from one of the four institutions turned who writes the best essay on "The Prevention of the Fly." Pamphlets have been prepared by Dr. Claude E. Smith, showing the habits of the house fly, and giving needed information on the subject to be contested. Much interest was added to the affair by the announcement of Mr. Little, of the senior class, to the effect that if a member of the graduating class was the winner, that he would add a substantial testimonial of his own to the $10.

PEEPLES STREET SCHOOL

The Junior Civic club held an interesting meeting Friday, May 2. The meeting was opened by the reports of the secretary and treasurer, and of the various committees. A debate was held on "Resolved, That public schools are preferable to private schools." Those on the affirmative were Shropshire, Cocke and Rosa Nash; on the negative side, Paul Gunn and Raymond Bourne. The affirmative side won. After the debate, recitations by Mary Brittain, Lucile Price and Rosco Nash were enjoyed.

We enjoyed a visit from Miss Milledge Monday. Her report was very satisfactory.

The ball team clashed with Pryor Friday, with a score of 12 to 4 in favor of Peeples. With only a few more games to play now, we stand a good chance of coming in second.

The picture offered in the third grade went to Henry Brittain last week.

The entertainment committee of the eighth grade is planning a closing entertainment. A play and two dialogues will be presented. There will be musical songs, recitations, etc. Those on the committee are, Thomas Stokes, William Disbro, Newton McEachern, Warren Pollard, Mary Brittain, Lucile Price, Helen Gonedy and Catherine Hackett.

We all hope that Field day will be a great success this year, as a reward for the untiring efforts of Dr. Toepel and Miss Graves.

CATHERINE HACKETT.

LEE STREET

All the boys and girls in the seventh and eighth grades are looking forward with great pleasure to the concert which will be given at the auditorium May 9. It will certainly be a great thing to hear so many children of Atlanta singing together and every one who is interested in children should attend this great concert.

The fifth and sixth grades are still earnestly working on their flag drill. It is fine indeed. Miss Toepel has arranged to get a moving picture of this beautiful drill.

The fifth grade has gotten a star every day for two weeks for having a neat room. They are very proud of this.

The second A had an excellent arithmetic match Monday on their multiplication tables. Those who remained standing were Jonelle Taylor, Alice Donelson, Mary Warner, William Floyd, Jack Vickery, Jesse Denton, Wertie Martin, Harold Smith, Martha Jones, Alice Stewart, Charlie Trey, Willie Grant, Florence Bray, Lucile Klebold, Evelyn Watson, Crawford Redwine and Hugh Lee Wyatt.

We are very proud of the fact that one of our seventh grade girls, Mary Crussell, received honorable mention on the essay about John B. Gordon.

Mr. Dan Green, a member of the board of education, visited our school today. The seventh and eighth grades especially enjoyed his visit as he gave them interesting lectures on history.

The third grade is very glad to see their teacher, Miss Workman, back again, after an absence of a week.

The sixth grade had an interesting debate Friday. The subject was: "Resolved, That the pen is mightier than the sword." The affirmative side was victorious. Those on the affirmative side were Maude Baker, Lois Collings and Elizabeth Wyatt. On the negative side Warren Beath, Richard Sanders and Walter Dawson.

The eighth grade boys are greatly interested in their baseball at present and are anxious to declaim as well as the visitors who declaimed for us recently.

VIRGINIA COLLIER.

INMAN PARK.

We were glad to have Carl Nash retuned to school Wednesday, after being absent eleven days on account of a hurt leg. All the time he was away he kept up with his school studies.

The seventh grade had an arithmetic examination Tuesday and a spelling examination Wednesday.

Dr. Toepel visited the school Wednesday and gave final instructions to the children who will represent our school at the Field day exercises. He watched the children of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades practice for these exercises, and was very much delighted in seeing that so many children participated in them. He also thanked Miss Christian, the sixth grade teacher, for helping the children so much with their exercises.

The boys of the sixth grade who do not play basketball have a lively time playing baseball every recess.

A. 12. Neither Boys' High school, Peacock, or Gould Fraser entered this year. The medal offered for the winner of the most individual points was won by Lewis, of Marist, with 16 points, Fowler of Marist, following with 15 points.

All of the first A grade except two is in the field day exercises.

The fonurth grade got the highest in attendance last week.

Eleven children in the second grade got to see the fourth grade take their Field day exercises last week, as a reward for two good pages in their copybooks.

The doctors and nurses came Monday and got through Tuesday. They created a great deal of excitement among the children that had never been examined before.

BASEBALL IN THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

As the race in the Grammar School leagues draw nearer to the close, it now appears as if the two teams go to contest for the cup will be Formwalt from the south side, and Edgewood from the north. In passing it might be well to say a wordwith regard to this team from the Edgewood school. This is their first season in the Grammar School league and they have gone after the honors with a will, and the success of their efforts is well attested by the showing they have made in the race, against teams which have before been entered, and possible more experience players. For the past three seasons the team from the Formwalt school has succeeded in getting away with the championship of the public schools, and it seems as if the boys in the other schools are determined to break this run of victory.

Mrs. Lloyd Read, April Fool Bride, Now Sues

Mrs. Lloyd Read, a very pretty girl of the Gibson type, has told her story of how she became the April Fool bride of an Akron, Ohio, millionaire. She wants a divorce, and her case is now before Justice Gerard in the supreme court in New York, the judge who was mentioned as a probable selection of President Wilson for ambassador to Austria.

Mrs. Read was Miss Sadie Mullen and a show girl. She met Read at Akron when she was traveling through there with a beauty show April 1, 1912. After a furious cross-country drive in Read's big car the couple were wedded by a Pittsburg alderman whom they routed out of bed early April 1.

According to Miss Mullen, she suddenly awakened to realize that she was an April Fool bride. Without a comment's further reflection she left Read in his car, boarded a train and went back to her company in Akron that night. Two days later she went to New York and told her mother of her foolishness.

TWO THOUSAND SCHOOL CHILDREN CONTEST FOR U. D. C. MEDAL

The Atlanta chapter Daughters of the Confederacy are trying in a practical way to instill in each southern boy and girl in a practical way a pride in their southern history, and to help in this great work they are offering eleven prizes for the best essays written in the different schools in Atlanta. The number of essays submitted is an answer as to whether this is a practical way of teaching southern history.

The essays of the winners of these prizes were sent in to contest for the state prize offered by the Georgia division except the two from the public schools, as Superintendent Slaton enters his pulls only for the contest in Atlanta chapter.

The winners of the prizes are as follows:

Mrs. Williams McCarthy medal given to Marist college won by Captain Howard H. McCall, Jr., whose essay was also judged by the state chairman as being the best essay of the nine winners of prizes in the Atlanta schools.

Clement A. Evans medal to Peacock-Fleet school won by A. C. McPhail, Jr. This essay was judged second best by state chairman.

Camp 159, U. C. V. medal to county schools, won by Vena Suttles, Ben Hill school. This essay was third by state chairman.

Camp 159, U. C. V. medal to county schools, won by Amy Lee Harris, of Lakewood Heights school.

Mrs. A. McD. Wilson medal to eighth grade grammar schools, won by Bessie LaHatte, of Georgia Avenue school.

Five dollars in gold by Mrs. E. L. Connally to seventh grade grammar schools, won by Ruth Wilson, of Ira Street schools.

Farmers Alarmed

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GRIFFIN, Ga., May 10.—The farmers of this section are becoming alarmed over the long-continued drouth, and work on the farms has practically ceased. Corn and cotton planted some time ago cannot germinate on account of absence of sufficient moisture in the soil, and some farmers have not yet planted their cotton.

Tech Slipped Over a Surprise By Defeating Georgia Team

WEAVER IS SENT HOME; SEEKING NEW PITCHER

NO TELLING WHO HURLS

Cracker Manager Up in Air Relative to Pitching Selection Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 10.—Manager Smith, of the Atlanta team, stated this morning that his pitchers have been "going so bad" that he could not say definitely who would be sent into the box this afternoon in the third game of the series with Montgomery. Chappelle most probably will be designated but Further, the new twirler, or Musser, may be assigned to the task. Graham will catch.

Weaver, who pitched yesterday's game for Atlanta, has been sent to Atlanta by Manager Smith because se is out of condition. Manager Dobbs will likely use Manning in today's game with Gribbens behind the bat. The weather is clear and slightly cool.

WHITEY STAR IN BUM GAME

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 10.—Were it not for the fielding and batting of Whitey Alperman in the game Friday there would be no real need of writing of the battle which Atlanta lost. The Crackers played the sort of ball that used to be played on the back lots and in the corn fields at home, but far from the Southern league standard.

Montgomery got exactly thirteen hits off Buck Weaver and they were all timely ones, for they netted the Billikens ten tallies.

C. Brown was in the box for the Billikens and pitched a good game after settling down in the first part of the game. He struck out thirteen men, the Southern league record so far this year. In the third inning every man on the Montgomery team faced Buck Weaver, and the result was five runs for the local team. Dobbs had lost so many games that he took first turn at bat, and thought that this would make some change in the team luck. It worked admirably as the score shows. The game was full of hitting, but only one error was made by the Billikens and two by the Atlanta team.

Welchonce and Jantzen made several good stand catches, but Alperman was the real star of the game.

LOOKOUT FANS PULL HARD FOR CHAPPELLE TO STAR

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 10.—In the opinion of local fans, Bill Smith got a man that will strengthen his hurling staff at least 40 per cent when he secured Big Bill Chappelle from the locals. The passing of "Bell Cord" Bill was generally regretted here, and it was no inferior baseball ability that relished in the tall Hickory wielder.

Chappelle came to Chattanooga in 1910, being secured in exchange for Demaree and Joey Cantillon. As it has eventually turned out, the locals got the worst of the bargain by several thousand dollars, although Collins jumped the league, but this fact was never held against Chappelle.

The passing of "Bell Cord" Bill leaves Schefield's pitching staff composed of More, Troy and Golden, right-handers, and Sommers and Covelesk, left-handers. None held will probably stand pat with this five.

Covelesk and Sommers especially are going like a house on fire, the Pole appearing to be in his old 1910 form, and taking into consideration the valhe of southpaws in the league this year it will be seen that Elberfeld does not have to worry over his hurlers.

"Gabby" Street is held responsible for the return to form of Covelesk, the latter admitting that Charley is the first man who has been able to handle his benders since the passing of Rowdy Elliott. Street is handling the Pole in wonderful style and has succeeded in keeping him from working too strong in the soft spots and in mixing in a slow one now and then for the benefit of his arm and to the confusion of the opposing batsmen.

In the opinion of Elberfeld and experts who have seen him in action, Street is the best thing in the receiving line that has ever appeared in the Southern league, not excepting Sweeney and Archer. "Gabby" seems certain to return to the big show next year.

Atlanta Stars Out of Running

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 10.—The trophy for the winner of the invitation golf tournament here will be a member of the Birmingham club, all visitors were eliminated from the first flight in the matches played during Friday.

The first flight consisted of thirteen Birmingham players and three who hailed from Atlanta. In the opening matches all Atlantans went down and out, and it is now up to Birmingham to cop. In putting the Atlanta stars out of the running the Birmingham stars played some good golf. One of the distinct features of the play was the showing of Rob Stephens, Birmingham fourteen-year-old crack of Birmingham. This lad was able to put out Lowry Arnold, of Atlanta, after a strenuous effort on the part of W. C. Ward to win the match over the youngster in the afternoon. George Oliver had to go twenty holes to defeat U. Q. Prowell.

Marist Winner In Track Meet

Marist college was the winner in the inter-prep track meet that was held on the Marist campus yesterday afternoon. The Marist boys piled up a score of 31 out of a possible 90 points. Tech Higo got 26 and G. M. A. pulled 13.

Lewis, of Marist, won the medal for the best individual score. Roberts, of Marist, broke the pole vault record of the prep league, clearing the bar at 9 feet 6 inches. Some exceptionally good times were made, among them the 100-yard dash which was run by Allen, of Marist, in 10 4-5 seconds.

Pitcher Dent, of Washington, May Be Landed to Bolster Hurling Staff—May Suspend Weaver and Keep Him

Buck Weaver, Atlanta hurler, was given a thorough trial in Friday's game with Montgomery and when he failed to show was sent home prior to being sold, traded or suspended. Manager Smith contends that the hurler is not in good condition, and if he is not disposed of will be suspended and worked out at Ponce de Leon until he comes around sufficiently to get another trial with the Crackers.

While Weaver is out of the game the hurling staff must be bolstered, and President Callaway is now seeking to purchase Pitcher Dent from Washington team. Dent went unusually strong with the Newark International League club last season, and doubtless would be a good man here.

Reports from Montgomery are to the effect that the Cracker team is very much discouraged over the failure of the hurlers to go at the proper clip, while some reports have it that one of the catchers is working like a school boy. Many attribtue the poor showing of some of the hurlers to bad coaching by this catcher.

The failure of the hurlers to go at the clip that was expected has greatly hurt the Atlanta club and seeing this President Callaway will probably line up one or two good men within the next few days. Just what caused the hurlers to go so badly is a puzzle. Some think they have not properly cared for themselves, while other leading fans are equally as positive that it is the fault of the catchers who are not working them properly. At any rate, the hurlers are not delivering no matter if they have the goods and for this reason cannot be kept.

CLEVELAND, May 10.—Pitcher Finis E. Wilson, southpaw, who came to the Cleveland club from the Knoxville (Tenn.) club last fall, today, was released to the New Orleans Southern league team.

Yanks Get Catcher

NEW YORK, May 10.—The New York American league club announced last night that Manager Chance had signed Catcher William Reisbolde, of the Houston baseball club, champion team of the Texas league in 1912.

Atlanta Evers Day In New York

NEW YORK, May 10.—Today was Evers' day at the Polo grounds—Johnny Evers' first appearance on the local lot as the leader of the Chicago Cubs. Secretary Foster, of the New York club, said a high water mark for the sale of tickets for the game had been set, and indications were that, notwithstanding the chill breeze, New York's army of fans would turn out in overwhelming numbers to welcome him. Troy, N. Y., Evers' home town, sent hundreds of fans to see the game.

WILL NAPOLEON LAJOIE EVER GROW OLD? WON'T THE GREAT WAGNER SOON QUIT GAME?

Both Are Veterans of Many Years, and Yet They Continue to Star

NAP LAJOIE

HANS WAGNER

Star players come and go in baseball, but Nap Lajoie and Hans Wagner, two of the most brilliant products of the game, go on forever, apparently.

Hans Wagner is back in the game for Pittsburg, after a layoff, due to an in*jured knee, to the disgust of pitchers* who must face him, while his manner of lumbering across the diamond after batted balls is as terrifying as it was a half-dozen years back.

"Napoleon Lajoie," as American leaguers call Lajoie, is the same old Nap. Years of starring have not dimmed his batting eye. Since the opening of the season Larry has hit the ball in the fashion that kept him at the top of the list for years and has cut off base hits and made seemingly impossible plays around second with the same indolent ease which long ago earned him the reputation of being the most graceful man in baseball.

Rube Waddell has gone to the bushes. Cy Young is managing a team in the Federal league. One by one the stars fall, but to all appearances Larry and Hans are as good as they were ten years ago. Both deny they intend to retire and Lajoie made his assertion strong by saying that he'd play until they tore off his uniform.

TECH'S ANNUAL UNDRESS PARADE; "TURKEY TROT" IN PEACHTREE ST.

Tech Students Did Any and Everything They Wished and Yet Escaped Police

Peachtree street in front of Nunnally's was a ballroom Friday night, the dancers were the students of the Georgia School of Technology, and the cause of it all was that the Tech baseball team did the most startling thing that a Tech baseball team ever has done, and that is beat Georgia 3 to 2. When the odds all veered toward a walkover for the Athenians.

It seems to be a strange habit with the local college lads to seek their night shirts every time anything out of the ordinary happens. Some 'scollegers turn to paint, others will take it out in wood and matches, while it has been known in some of our modern institutions of learning to find the prides of the classrooms slightly inebriated following a football game.

The Tech boys find other ways of turning loose their joy stuff.

Night shirts and noise ever follow a Tech victory.

A Tech boy can walk down Peachtree street 363 nights in the year wearing his Morpheum garments and get arrested by a cop as soon as he turns the corner from North avenue on Thanksgiving night and on the occasion of the Georgia-Tech games he can wear his underclothes all over the shop and get away with it.

Thus it was Friday night. A stranger in Atlanta wandering up the Great White Way about 8 o'clock, saw something coming down the street like a band of howling, roaring kukluxes, and lit out for the Terminal station, reading a timetable every six jumps.

What he had seen was merely a crowd of young gentlemen who are trying to be civil and mechanical engineers during the daytime, but who, Friday night, were ramblin' wrecks and hiflofanengineers.

There were close on to 1,000 of the hoarse shouters. All the way from the flats had they come, down Peachtree street, turning loose the yowlings of a Hedlam all the way, spitting out college yells, breaking window panes in fragments, beating out weird noises from drum and cymbal.

We have considered the lilies of the field, but they were tame compared to what greeted our eyes Friday night. Did you ever see a pair of purple pajamas, covered with red splotches, cavorting beside a bean pole clad only in an abbreviated night shirt, there below right behind six apparitions draped with a pillow case apiece, and a mosquito netting clinging affectionately over the right ear?

Imagine 500 more nightshirts and pajamas, with a wild Indian hoot coming from each one, and you will still fail to picture the class of the show that was staged before the debutantes in Nunnally's last evening.

The feature of the performance was the dancing. Old Man Tango himself would have shuddered to see it. When the tallest man in the senior class does a grapevine across Peachtree street with the smug little sub-freshman, collides with two street cars, a delivery wagon and an electric, shakes hands with a post or so, trample a policeman and finishes with a jolt against the side of the Piedmont hotel, it is something to whisper about.

They heaved and hitched, ragged and ripped from curb to curb in arabesques and whirl, all to the tune of "In My Harem," rendered by the band and the "Scars from the Battle" on the sidewalk.

As a fat boy swung by the crowd which cheered them on, his pajamas split six ways up the back, and his pillow case collapsing all over his shoulders, a fat man shouted from the window of the Piedmont:

"Little stude upon the wall,
Ain't you got no clothes at all?
Ain't you got nother name, nor shirt?
Ain't you got no petti-skirt?
Very soon, I do believe,
You'll be dressed like Mother Eve."

Not content with breaking the civic atmosphere into fragments, advertising Porous-Knit from Rangoon to Mandalay, and showing what the minuet isn't to staid denizens of the Gate City, someone, we understand, has burned up several carloads of lumber at Tech Friday night.

The lumber was there to build the new grandstands with. It went to celebrate the victory instead, for for two hours last night it burned, the biggest bonfire that Atlanta has ever seen.

Mississippi Winner

ARKADELPHIA, Ark., May 10.—Four singles and a two-base hit in the third inning gave the University of Mississippi a safe lead over Ouachita college, and Mississippi won, 5 to 2. Ouachita won the first game of the series. Another game will be played. Score: R. H. E. Mississippi.....5 11 5
Ouachita.....2 5 6

Pole Wrestler Downs Two in One Hour

MONTREAL, May 10.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, champion wrestler of Poland, fulfilled conditions imposed upon him here last night by throwing two opponents within an hour. The Pole threw Vincent in 24 minutes with a toe hold, and Caneaux in 26 minutes with a body hold.

Race Association Gives Decisions

NEW YORK, May 10.—At the closing session Wednesday of the board of review of the National Trotting association E. J. Cahill, of Jersey City, was ordered to pay the recording fee for a horse purchased by him in Ohio which he supposed had no record, but which was later recognized as "Dr. Trickle," which, under another name, won a race for Cahill at Newark. Frank Carroll, who acted as flagman at the Hartford, Conn., races last September, was expelled for making a false report to the judges.

George Washington Spear, an old-time trainer and driver, was temporarily reinstated pending good behavior. He was expelled in December, 1906, in connection with the gold cup race at Memphis, Tenn., in which Lou Dillon ran. The mare, then holder of the world's record for windshield trotters, lost the race to Major Delmar and Spear later made an affidavit that he conspired to dope the mare before the race. The charge was later riddled in the courts.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

The White Sox made it two straights yesterday by defeating the Senators, 6 to 1. Bunched hits and errors in the third and seventh turned the trick.

A single by Lewis, a double by Gardner and another single by Engle in the eighth with the score tied and two men down gave the Red Sox a victory over the Naps yesterday. The game was marked by fierce hitting. The Red Sox made 13 and the Naps 8.

Detroit was run back to the bushes yesterday afternoon by the hard-hitting Yanks. New York got 14 hits and 9 runs. At no time in the game did the Tigers have a chance. They were completely played off their feet by the blood-thirsty Yanks.

Montgomery's ability to hit the ball at will was the cause of the Crackers' miserable defeat yesterday. The Crackers seemed not to be able to locate Brown, and Weaver couldn't locate the plate, so the Billikens batted by easily.

One bad inning for Marquard gave the Reds the game yesterday. The Giants played good ball all the way through, but "Rube" weakened in the sixth and Cincinnati drove in three runs. The Peerless "Rube" was touched for nine hits.

Boston made it four straight from *Pittsburg yesterday, defeating the Pi*rates, 4 to 1. The score was 3 to 1 to the eighth, in favor of the Pirates, when the Doves took the lead on a free pass, Connelly's single, Sweeney's double and a single by Titus.

Brooklyn took second place in the race yesterday by trimming the Cubs in a hard-fought game. The Dodgers got away with a four-run lead, and it was too great for the Cubs to overcome. The persistent hard-hitting of the Dodgers won the game, making it three out of four from the Chicago team.

Rome Wins Cup

ROME, Ga., May 10.—In all probability Rome will win the attendance trophy offered by the Appalachian league for the largest attendance on opening day. When Rome and Cleveland met here Thursday there was a paid attendance of 1,978. The attendance at Knoxville was 1,300, and at Bristol 1,320. Middlesboro, Ky., Johnson City and Cleveland, Tenn., are yet to be heard from, but all are smaller towns than Rome it is believed that the cup will come to this city.

Errors Hurt Georgia Team and Tech Won

Red and Black Bunch Made Ten Errors and Discouraged Corley — Eubanks Pitched Jam-Up Article of Ball

ATHENS, Ga., May 10.—"Smoky" Eubanks made history Friday, when he held the heavy slugging Georgia aggregation to seven widely scattered hits, no one being overa single, and won his game 4-3. He received A-1 support, his teammates registering only one error.

Wooten, the recent acquisition of the Tech regulars, played the outer garden in fine style, cutting down six drives and landing on one for four sacks in the first inning. The game was a hair raiser from start to finish, Tech's runs came mostly through Georgia's nervousness, the whole team, except Hutchens, having an off day. Wooten, the first man up, lifted what looked like an easy out over to Ginn, but it was lost in the sun and went for four sacks. The next two men went out on easy grounders. Covington errored Montague's drive, Harrison flied out for Pound, and Amason walked. Montague scoringe on bad throws.

Tech counted again in the fourth. Donnalson singled. Attridge was safe on Corley's error. Eubanks drew a fielder's choice, Donaldson being forced at third. Wooten got his second hit, filling the sacks. Moore walked, and Attridge was forced in. Eubanks scored on Pitts' sacrifice fly to Ginn. After this Corley settled down and retired the Heismanites in one-two-three order.

Georgia started things in the first also. Ginn drew four bad ones. He was sacrificed to third by Harrison and McWhorter. Hutchens punched him across with a single. In the seventh Clements walked. Ginn reached first on Hutchens's error. Harrison singled, scoring Clements, and Ginn counted on McWhorter's sacrifice fly.

THE NINTH ROUND.

The climax, however, came in the ninth. Clements singled and was sacrificed to second, with two down, and the Georgia rooters went wild for a run. Harrison drove one to deep left, which looked as if it were squarely in the branch. Pound sprinted, did not get under the drive, but left his feet, stabbing it high over his head. It was by far the most sensational play of the game, coming at the psychological moment.

Corley, of Georgia, pitched a great game, holding Tech to five hits, and should have won but for the ragged support of his colleagues. Tech secured only one earned run off his delivery. Hutchens, Georgia's big receiver, was the whole show, however, for the Red and Black. He caught a headly game, kept the runners hugging, and drove out the two hits out of four times at bat. For Tech Wooten's fielding and hitting, and Pounds' sensational catch were features. In fielding the Tech team played rings around the Georgians, eating up everything which came their way. Had they been heavier hitters, Georgia's forces would have enabled them to score many more times.

Sewanee Loses To Cumberland

SEWANEE, Tenn., May 10.—Cumberland defeated Sewanee in a good game here Friday by the score of 6 to 3. "Red" Smith pitched good ball for the visitors, striking out seven men and batting heavily. Gordon, for Sewanee, was not in good form at all, but he had good support and the Sewanee team as a whole played fairly well.

Gordon struck out six and walked one. Failure to hit lost Sewanee the game. Smith, for Cumberland, and Dinkins and Whited for Sewanee were the particular luminaries. Score by innings: R. H. E.

Track Classic Is Run Today; Star Entries

Big Field Will Race for Rich Purse Over Track at Louisville—None of the Entries Is Big Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 10.—The thirty-ninth renewal of the Kentucky Derby, one of the oldest classics of the American turf, gave promise today of living up to its precedents both as to class of contenders and in point of attendance.

With fair weather and a fast track, indications were that the three-year-old thoroughbreds that faced the barrier today would offer a stirring exhibition for the thousands of lovers of the sport who renewed their annual pilgrimage to Churchill Downs.

Foundation, Ten Point, Yankee Notion, Jimmie Gill and Prince Hermis were named early today as certain starters. Leochares, Donerail and Flying Tom were possible starters. Foundation appeared the favorite early today. The winner will get about $7,000.

Always the meeting ground for society and sport, this year's Derby event promised as brilliant an assemblage as any of its predecessors. Prominent social leaders and followers of the turf from the eastern and southern capitals and from the west, supplemented the large contingent of the Blue Grass state's devotees of the thoroughbred.

While these were assembling on the club house verandas and in the grandstand a crowd of no less ardent devotion to the sport was gathering in the field enclosure to which admittance was free, according to Derby custom.

The official list of probable Derby starters, giving name of horse, weight carried, owner, sire and jockey, is as follows:

Ten Point; 117; A. L. Asto; Jack Point; ——.

Foundation; 117; C. W. McKenna; Nasturtium; Loftus.

Yankee Notion; 117; H. K. Knapp; Yankee; Glass.

Prince Hermis; 117; L. Marion; Hermis; Gans.

Jimmie Gill; 110; Doerhoefer & West; Fatherless; Borel.

Leochares; 114; J. W. Schorr; Broomstick; Peak.

Donerail; 117; T. P. Hayes; McGee; Goose.

Flying Tom; 114; D. W. Scott; Hansel; Taplin.

Sam Hirsch; 114; L. Marion; Electioneer; Gross.

(1) Gowell; 112; J. T. Weaver; Ort Wells; Buxton.

(4) Lord Marshall; 117; J. O. & G. H. Keen; Odd Fellow; Steele.

(5) Floral Park; 112; Grefer & Bender; Burgomaster or Hamburg; Kederis.

(x) Doubtful starter.

Tigers Enter Many Events

PRINCETON, N. J., May 10.—With three baseball games, a track meet, a gun shoot, a number of tennis matches on the program, athletics will reign supreme here today. Activities will open with a baseball game between the Princeton Tigers and the Yale Record, the humorous publications of the two institutions, and this will be followed by the intercollegiate gun shoot with Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth and Princeton as contenders. Princeton's annual interscholatsic tennis matches also will be held.

Princeton will meet Yale on the track and Cornell on the diamond and the Princeton team will line up against the Yale baseball substitutes.

CHANGES FOR THE FEDERAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 10.—With the opening of the Federal league season here and the transfer of the Louisville-Indianapolis game of the American association to this city, Indianapolis today probably will witness the start of a baseball war between the two leagues.

Preceding the game, the Federal league club, which meets Chicago, has arranged an automobile parade through the downtown streets and to their new field, where Governor Ralston will pitch the first ball. It is generally conceded that the Federal game will draw the larger crowd, as baseball fans are curious to see what Manager "Hoss Hill" Phillips has to offer. The Indianapolis association team has not been playing up to expectation lately, and yesterday only drew an attendance of about 300.

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

SOMETHING ELSE AGAIN.

"In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced or cried aloud."—Henley.

But then, old top, in Fate's mad pranks,
That oft have bowed unnumbered heads,
You have not tried to lead the Yanks
Or make a winner of the Reds.

"In the fell clutch of circumstance"?
A tawdry thing—a bush league note
Compared to what has grappled Chance
And nipped J. Tinker by the throat!

To those who esteem coincident trivialties as worthy of note, we call attention again to the Chance-Tinker furore.

Both were off to an equally porous start. Of more than passing coincidence, each was able to show but one winning pitcher up to Wednesday's count, and in each case the lone winner was a recruit.

Keating, a youngster, had copped the only Yank victories established, while Johnson, an Indian debutante, had assembled all the Red gods collected to that date.

Neither of the ex-Cubs had been able to wrest off a victory through the first month of the race with any of the veteran slabmen. Ford, McConnell, Fisher and Caldwell had blown for Chance, while Suggs, Benton, Fromme, etc., had failed to kick in for Tinker.

We have a rush note from Col. Bill Aulick in which he hastens to explain that "Joseph and His Brethren" are shooting 598 points higher on the stage than Joseph and His Brethren are exploiting on the ball field. Mr. Aulick requests the public at large not to get the two casts mixed.

AS FOR THE DOPE AGAIN—

No ball club in either league looked as bad last spring as the astounding Phillies. They were soft shell pie for almost very contender they faced. The Senators whaled the eternal padding out of them, while the Athletics tore them into gory fragments. They looked to be ninety-seven points shy of proper form—ready for a running jump into the game's morgue.

Four days after all these bitter tears were shed these same Phillies were out with the flashy pink exuding from every pore. At the end of the first month they had the field whip-sawed and trailing. They had beaten the Giants four straight games and stopped all other contenders in sight with the best exhibition of pitching any club had shown in seasons.

A great little institution—the grandolddope. It's great stuff to smoke as long as you don't inhale.

With Kilbane, Ritchie and McCarty hailed as champs, the National Commish should award the world's series title to South Bend and even up the field. Which may be knocking a good little town more than it deserves.

Griff and his Senators are willing to follow a reasonable pace, but even a motorcycle can't keep step with an unleashed cyclone.

To all whom it may concern—Charles E. Van Loan is scheduled to leave the Pacific for the Atlantic coast on May 18. He will be accompanied by his buffing-spoon, two pushirons and a snickersnee. Pass the word along the route.

A wild-eyed reader assails us lustily for mentioning Bender in connection with golf. He writes that he wishes to know "what sort of a pitcher Bender is—not what sort of a golfer he may be." We have no rebuttal, save this—any bloke who doesn't know what "sort of a pitcher" Bender is—and who at the same time insists upon signing himself "A Fan"—thereby commits forgery and perjury and is beyond the pale of any reply.

When interviewed of our correspondent Manager Stahl stated that he was not yet ready to announce his pitching selection for the first world series game next fall. Jake said that he might decide to wait several weeks longer, if not a year or two.

Observing the positions of the Red Sox and the Reds, Harvard is tipped in advance as to how her favorite color scheme is making out. 1913 isn't starting as any red-letter year, to judge things as they lie this far from the start.

PLAYERS MIX AFTER GAME

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 10.—Various incidents of accidental roughness in the Boston-Cleveland American league game Wednesday caused some ill-feeling, which culminated in a melee in the club house after the game, in which fourteen or fifteen players of both clubs were engaged, according to a report last night.

Outfielder Gainey was stunned for a moment when Pitcher Leonard tagged him on the forehead while putting him out at home. Various accusations of abusive language on the coaching lines and intentional roughness were made by both teams.

Immediately after the game, it is said, a Cleveland player and a Boston player came to blows in the club house because of some abusive language which each claimed the other had used. After a dozen or more players of both teams had entered the argument, some as peacemakers, the difference was settled with no very lasting damage done.

CLEMSON TURNS TABLES ON AUBURN TEAM

AUBURN, Ala., May 10.—Auburn suffered defeat at the hands of Clemson in a loosely-played and heavy-hitting game.

The score was 18 to 4. Locke was knocked out of the box in the first inning, and Driver, who succeded him, was batted hard. Catches by Moulton and Noble featured.

COMISKEY TO LEAVE GAME

CHICAGO, May 10.—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago Americans, is planning his farewell to the game he has helped to make famous. After the White Sox finish their tour of the world next winter he will retire from the active management, he told friends last night.

"After the trip around the world the coming winter I will be through with baseball," he said. "Beginning with the trip I will take a real vacation and some one else will have to look after the team. I have been at it a long time—I don't like to say how long, for my friends might think I am getting old."

Fine Tennis Work

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Brilliant played marked the second day of the sixth annual open tennis tournament of the Chevy Chase club.

All of the out-of-town players who had been picked to win were victors, with the single exception of Mrs. Lawson, beaten in the semi-final round of the ladies' singles.

VALDOSTA IS GOING GOOD

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 10.—The best game of the season on the home ground, Valdosta handed Cordele the second defeat of the series, 7 to 3. Both Zellers and Gillispie were hit rather freely, each giving up eleven hits, but the hitting of Valdosta team was more opportune, Cordele's errors aiding materially.

Valdosta fielded sharply. Wassum, Brozier and Franks made circus catches in the outfield.

Chess Champion Can't Enter

NEW YORK, May 10.—Practically all hope of inducing Dr. E. Lasker, world's chess champion, to enter the forthcoming international tournament at Havana, Cuba, has been abandoned. Word has been received from the champion at Berlin that it would be impossible for him to come over for the Cuban tournament, and that moreover it was questionable whether he would take part in many tournaments hereafter. As his serious life's work will be directed into other channels Dr. Lasker states he would be obliged to limit himself to a few matches.

Autos Will Race 200 Miles for $5,000

GALVESTON, Tex., May 10.—A 200-mile automobile race on Galveston beach for which a prize of $5,000 will be hung up, is to be the feature event of the 1913 cotton carnival meet, according to plans laid last night. The meet will cover three days in all, the dates being set on July 28, 29 and 30.

It is planned to offer prizes aggregating $14,000 for the meet.

HEISMAN BEGINS WORK TO LAND GOOD TEAMS

Popular Coach to Be Field Agent for the School—Good Men in Sight

That Tech will have a good football team next year is almost an assured fact. Coach Heisman, the famous coach of the Yellow Jackets, will travel for the school this summer and that he will bring some good men to the school is an assured fact. Coach Heisman is a man of extremely pleasing personality off the athletic field, and he has the knack of attracting young men.

There are already plans under foot, whereby several men have been induced to enter the school in the fall. Tech has now the greatest inducements of any school in the south and athletes will be quick to realize this. The building of the new stadium and of the new athletic field will greatly add to the aspect of things. There is to be a new club house built for the players and this will also materially add to the many attractions.

There has been organized at the school what is known as an advance club and the object will be to look after the new men who will leave prep schools this spring. Already several good men have been seen and have expressed their intention of making Tech their college. Just who these men are can not now be said, but spring prospects for good fall material are better this year than ever before and the winning streak of the red and black is about to be broken according to the men that know. The entire admiration of every sportsman in the city was aroused last year by the game struggles that the Tech football team made against every team that it played and though the men were Georgia alumni or other rival college men, they were all unanimous in their praise of the Baby Jackets.

This year they will be rewarded for their admiration not only in game fights, but in seeing an Atlanta college team get the big end of the score. No names are given out, but have a care Tech will be there next fall, stronger than ever before.

LET US TELL YOU A SECRET ABOUT
Lowney's Cook Book

When the Lowney Company decided to publish a new Cook Book they looked for the woman who stood highest in the profession of Cooking in this Country. They found her in Maria Willet Howard, former Principal of the Boston Cooking School at present connected with the foremost School of Domestic Science in this country.

They told Miss Howard that they wanted a Cook Book which WOULD BE DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHERS, which would be PRACTICAL, ECONOMICAL and which would be USEFUL alike TO THE YOUNG HOUSEKEEPER as well as the experienced cook; in a word, a book book WHICH EVERY WOMAN WOULD WANT, NO MATTER HOW MANY OTHER COOK BOOKS SHE HAD.

NO EXPENSE WAS SPARED and as a result was published this splendid book of 1,450 NEW RECIPES, PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED and DURABLY BOUND. It is the equal of any $2.50 Cook Book on the market. Up to the present time it has been sold everywhere a $1.25.

The Lowney Co. do not publish this book for profit, but rather to gain the friendship of American housekeepers, by giving them a $2.50 Cook Book at about what it costs to make it.

The Journal was able, therefore, to make an arrangement with the publishers whereby it can supply this Cook Book to its readers at just what it costs to make it, plus the small expense of delivering it into your hands.

If there ever was a bargain, this is it. A $1.25 COOK BOOK FOR ONLY 48 CENTS and 6 consecutive coupons from The Journal.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Price of Feed an Important Factor in the Poultry Industry

POSSIBLY there is no one thing that affects the poultry industry as much as the price of feed. This same thing applies not only to the poultry industry but to the live stock interest of the country. Feed products when they are plentiful are usually converted through poultry and live stock into cash and it is the most profitable and quickest method by which a farmer can cash in his work and efforts. And, when the price of all kinds of feeding stuff remains as it has been for the past eighteen months naturally people who produce these are inclined to convert grain directly into cash rather than take the chances of feeding it either to animals or fowls and take the chances of making a profit out of this food after it has been fed to poultry or other stock. Therfore, thousands of people have sold off their poultry very close and have kept nothing except the best and that which they were compelled to keep. The result has been a great scarcity of all kinds of live stock and poultry over the entire United States. And possibly never was before such a scarcity of animals and fowls to consume the feed that is now in the country.

With the tremendous grain crop in the west last year it naturally has had some effect on the poultry throughout the west. Cheap grain has brought back renewed interest in poultry in most of the western states and this season western breeders have done a big business. In fact reports come from most sections of the east and west that the poultry and live stock interests have certainly been profitable this spring. This section of country will soon feel the effects of cheap feed which it looks like will come this season. There is a big difference now in the price of food compared to what it was one year ago. One trouble now is thousands of people have disposed of their live stock and poultry and it will take some time to get started again and while we will have cheap feed ahead of us we haven't the stock to consume it. High price feed has forced hundreds of breeders throughout the south to loose interest and give up the business of poultry during the past eighteen months. People who have held on and now have a good stock on hand can not help but find it profitable as every indication points to a big business this season. Usually this state of affairs always follows. It is a hard matter to keep the two balanced and one of the surest methods of keeping the balance safe side always is to stick to your line of work through dull and good times alike. But, of course, when feed has the price it has commanded during the past eighteen months a person is usually compelled to cull very closely and only keep the best of their stock which a great many have done.

From present indications it looks like eggs will be high this winter and the man who has a good supply of poultry now on hand can well afford to take good care of it and prepare himself to take care of the business that is sure to come this fall. There are many people who have thoroughbred birds but have not paid the attention during the past twelve months to them and kept up the interest in breeding as they should have done. The result is that a majority of these people will need new blood and will try to improve their flocks during next season and it will create a big demand for good male birds to mate the pullets with. From present indications there will be a great many fairs and poultry shows the coming winter. There will be a large demand for show birds and many breeding birds will be sold during these exhibitions, and if Georgia should happen to harvest a big grain crop this season, which everything indicates will be done, the demand for both live stock and poultry will be unusually good this winter. When there is plenty feed in the country people do not mind keeping something to consume it but when it is scarce you can rest assured people will not keep more than is absolutely necessary. The day has come when there is always a demand for something to eat and just so long as a person produces this he can certainly get the other fellow's cash. The world must be fed and it is of far more importance to produce something to eat than it is something to wear.

Yours very truly,

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.
Columbus, Ga.

I have a nice bunch of forty some odd Buff Leghorns. Have a modern poultry house, kept clean, keep permanganate potash in all drinking water, feed them stock powders also salt in bran but have lost several and write for advice as nothing I have done seems to help them. I have given them castor oil, also kerosene and mix vomica. They seem to have sore throats, can't swallow, bowels bad and greed, comb red but seem to have fever, feathers come out easy when they get bad off, have a catching noise, mouth open, craw empty. I have had roupe among them, but this doesn't seem to be roupe. I could cure that, as their breath is not bad. I feed to this bunch about two quarts of scratch feed and about two quarts of bran per day, also keep clean drinking water.

MRS. Y. S. M.

ANSWER.

The chickens you have been losing have been poisoned with ptomaine poison caused from eating filth of some kind or drinking filthy water. You will have to remove the cause or they will continue to die. Maggots from tainted matter of any kind will cause this trouble, so will poisonous matter.

You should not feed salt in bran. If you will use the regular mixed poultry feeds which can be had of any poultry supply house, this fed in a mash with Black Draught Stock Powders mixed in it every day and a small amount of scratch feed once a day should get your chickens right.

The water should be fresh every day, given in an earthen vessel with one-half grain of permanganate of potash to one gallon of water every day until they get better.

Their liver and entire system is out of condition and good feed and cleanliness will correct the trouble.

QUESTION.
Jonesboro, Ga.

Will you please give me some information about raising white rabbits? I have one female and two males. There were seven in five weeks there were two more. Each time the little ones came too soon and were dead.

I will thank you for any information on this subject.

A READER.

ANSWER.

It would be best for you to keep your rabbits separated. Very often many little ones are lost by allowing them to run together. The female should be separated at least one week or ten days before producing young, and should have a quiet place with good bed to produce the young in. They should be fed on dry alfalfa hay, also oats. If you separate them, I think you will have no further trouble in raising the little ones.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Approval of Whitehall Street Project Is Followed by Building Announcements — Apartment House for Washington Street to Cost $35,000—Several Small Sales Announced, and Several New Transactions Are Filed for Record

South side development is quite a conspicuous feature of the market just now.

To begin with, there is the announcement that the street committee of the city council has approved the regrading of Whitehall street. Incidentally, Charles H. Black said at the meeting that he would erect a $50,000 building on the Whitehall street site. It is understood that he has already leased this building.

He also said that three other owners would build on Whitehall street, one of the owners being C. E. Currier, president of the Atlanta National bank.

The street committee voted to ask the finance committee for $30,000, so that work could be started by October 15. The property owners have given $17,000 for the work, and the county will do the work.

Mr. Black was out of town today, and the details of his building plan could not be learned. It is believed, however, that he will announce them shortly.

SOUTH SIDE APARTMENTS.

S. S. Selig, Jr., will build a $35,000 apartment house at Washington and Peters Park streets. Plans are being drawn by A. F. N. Everett, the architect.

There will be a three-story brick building containing nine apartments, on a lot 81x125. The Gresham company has the contract and the building will be ready for occupancy by September 15.

STANDARD OIL GIVEN CHANCE TO PROVE FAITH

Missouri Supreme Court Grants Rehearing in Ouster Suit Against Company

(By Associated Press.)

JEFFERSON CITY, May 10.—The Missouri supreme court today granted a rehearing in the ouster proceedings against the Standard Oil company of Indiana and appointed John Montgomery, of Sedalia, commissioner to take testimony as to the good faith of the company in severing its connection with any trust.

The court made an order suspending the writ of ouster against the company.

The court's action today brings relief to the village of Sugar Creek near Kansas City, whose existence was threatened by the ouster because the inhabitants drew their sustenance from the company's refinery there.

Application for a rehearing of the ouster was made by the Standard on several grounds. One of these was that the court, in its decision ousting the company, stood five to two, the three new judges who had been elected since arguments were heard in the case, voting to oust the company.

The Standard also set up that it had severed its connection with the "oil trust" in good faith.

Booze, and Not Beets Nor Other Truck, Is This Peddler's Stock

The police are searching for a mysterious peddler who is said to drive through the streets of Atlanta, supposedly selling beets, carrots and onions, but in reality carrying a tremendous load of "blind tiger booze."

Early Saturday morning, it is said, this man was seen driving down Haynes street. Pedestrians were surprised to behold a negro suddenly emerge from the back of the cart, carrying in his hand a canvas sack.

With cries of "stop thief!" passersby pursued him as he fled down Haynes street. The peddler, however, placidly continued on his way. In a barn near Dover street the negro was cornered and gave up. He was arrested and upon being searched was found to be carrying several bottles of liquor in his sack.

The negro gave his name as James Crawford. In court Saturday morning he declared that he had bought the whisky from the peddler for $8. He also said that his method of selling the liquor was always employed with the peddler in question and that the wagon supposedly filled with vegetables, in reality had several hundred dollars worth of "blind tiger" in it.

The negro was fined $50.75 and costs. A search discovered no trace of the peddler.

PAINTER'S CHEEK CUT BY RUNNING ASSAILANT

As W. C. Joiner, a painter, who lives at 453 Whitehall street, was walking along Viaduct place Saturday morning, some one suddenly passed him on a run and deliberately cut him in the left cheek. He fell to the ground and in the ensuing excitement his assailant escaped.

Joiner declared to officers that he could tell neither the size nor color of the man who did the stabbing. He said that he knows of no one who would have any reason for committing the deed. The cut is a deep one and painful, although not serious.

Three suspects have een arrested, L. Edge, a salesman, who gives his address as 721 Woodward avenue; W. S. Lamkin, a painter, and T. C. Lamkin, both of 33 Simpson street. Edge declares that he and the Lamkins came out of a restaurant and that he was running for his car when the stabbing occurred. Officers saw him apparently fleeing down the street and supposed that he had committed the deed.

Later in the week, at a time yet to be set, the committees on dental inspection in the public schools of the city and the public safety will meet.

Saving and Investing

The Money That Is Prolific.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

Benjamin Franklin said money is of a prolific, generating nature. Money can beget money and its offspring can beget more and so on. The more there is of it the more it produces every time it is turned.

I have lately heard of a few cases which illustrate Franklin's theory perfectly.

A policeman in St. oLuis in thirty-five years on the force, rising to be a sergeant, with a salary never more than $115 a month, owned at the end of the thirty-five years real estate worth $20,000, which was bringing him $150 a month in rent. He says that he did it by watching the nickels and never permitting himself or any member of his family to go into debt.

At the age of seventy-two a laboring man whose wages have been $1 a day retired recently to live on his accumulated savings—and they amount to a tidy sum! He thinks that the money spent on drink is sufficient to provide for the future of every man who works.

A Georgia man says that he forces himself to yield some surplus every month, and when he has a few hundred dollars in the bank he goes hunting for a bargain in unimproved real estate. He puts a house on the property when he buys it, borrowing the money to build it if necessary, gets in a tenant, and then proceeds to pay off the incurred debt.

Another man makes contracts to buy real estate on the regular payment plan as a method of putting aside a part of his earnings. He aims to choose property which will increase in value. His method involves something more than the following of the instinct to hoard.

A Chicago woman found herself owing a rather large bill, and with very little money to meet it. The creditor suggested that she pay it off in installments. That way, the bill was paid without hardship, and she followed its final settlement by continuing the installment payments—this time into a savings bank.

Deciding upon the method is the all-important thing.

SCION OF FAMOUS FAMILY APPEARS IN PANTOMIME

Lionel Barrymore, a scion of the famous Barrymore family, is being starred by the Biograph "Movie" company in a number of feature films. It is a significant fact in the history of the transition of the notable stage folk from the legitimate to the screen play.

Not so long ago the "movie" was a subject of derision to the actor of place and prominence. Today the foremost of the speaking stage are finding their way quite naturally and with no sign of hesitancy into the camera and company of players who act in pantomime alone.

Lionel Barrymore is the brother of Ethel and John Barrymore; the nephew of the great John Drew and the cousin of Louise Drew.

Just what drew Lionel Barrymore into the moving picture business may not be definitely known. But it's safe to wager that he did not accept the position without the exchange of some real money.

One of the new Biograph pictures in which Lionel Barrymore appears is "The Lady and the Mouse," an old-fashioned romance.

Reynolds Was in the Stockade; His Sister Thought Him Murdered

With tears in her eyes, a young woman entered the police station Saturday morning, begging the authorities to institute a search for her brother, who, she declared, had not been at home in three days and whom she believed to have been murdered.

Fearful that she lives near the home of Mary Phagan, on Lindsay street, and that the continued absence of her brother had caused her to believe that he had met with foul play, such as had happened to their little neighbor.

Inquiry discovered the fact that her brother, G. O. Reynolds, a machinist's helper, had been arrested Thursday for being drunk, and had been sent to the stockade. He had failed to notify his family of his whereabouts.

WARN CLUBS NOT TO SELL WHISKY TO NON-MEMBERS

Locker clubs were warned to be particular to whom they sell intoxicants by Recorder Broyles Saturday morning, following the arraignment before the recorder of Manager H. R. Pitts of the Beavers' club on East Hunter street, who was charged with giving whiskey to W. T. Brownlee, whose cards to the club had expired several months ago.

Brownlee comes from Lawrenceville. He was arrested Thursday for being drunk and disorderly. He said in court that he obtained his liquor from the Beavers' club. The only cards which he had to this organization were very much out of date.

Manager Pitts was arrested by Detective Bob Waggoner Friday afternoon, and Saturday morning was bound over by the recorder and fined $500 or thirty days in the stockade.

Poteat will make an address to the mothers, and Mr. A. M. Smith will have charge of the exercises of the primary department.

MR. GEORGE P. WELTCH DIES AT SANITARIUM

Mr. George P. Weltchh, aged forty-four years, died Friday afternoon at a local sanitarium, following an illness of several weeks. He was a citizen of Augusta, Ga., where for twenty-eight years he has been secretary and treasurer of the Columbia Iron works.

Surviving him are his wife, one daughter, Mrs. J. J. Perry, and one son. He was a member of a number of secret orders, including the Odd Fellows, the B. P. O. Elks, the Weedmen of the World and the Knights of Pythias.

The funeral will occur at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from Hemperly's chapel at East Point, and interment will be at the College Park cemetery.

BANK OF IDEAL IS IN IDEAL CONDITION NOW

State Bank Examiner W. J. Speer Saturday morning certified to Governor Brown that the Bank of Ideal, of Ideal, Macon county, is now in a solvent condition, and recommended that the petition for a receiver for this institution be withdrawn.

Several weeks ago Mr. Speer reported to the governor that this bank was insolvent, and suggested that it be placed in the hands of a receiver. Since that time the bank's stockholders have readjusted its affairs and placed it upon a sound and solvent basis.

CHARTER RAILROAD FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., May 10.—The Union Sunday schools of this city are planning one of the largest picnics ever held here for next Friday, May 16. The party will spend the day at the sanitarium spring, three miles from the city, and the Sunday schools have chartered the entire equipment of the Milledgeville Railway company, except, of course, the freight department, to handle the crowds, and it is expected that 2,000 people will attend if the weather is good.

Laundry With Dome and Called "Capitol" Good as Statehouse to Strangers

When three men from the country appeared at the desk of the Capital City laundry Saturday morning with their hands full of rocks, George Faust, the proprietor, thought at once that he was up against some bold hold-up men. He was all alone in the office, but he herved himself and, in the politest manner at his command, said: "Well, gentlemen, what will you have?"

"Why, we uns want these hyar rocks examined. We thinks there mought be gold in 'em," the biggest one drawled out.

"Well, we don't examine rocks here. You want the capitol," explained the laundryman.

"Why, ain't this the capitol?" one of the strangers asked.

He was informed that he was several blocks from the state building.

"Well, if it ain't the capitol, you've got the dome, anyhow."

The three men then departed with directions to look for the big dome with the woman on top holding something in her hand.

Woman Rescued From East River Doesn't Remember Accident

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 10.—A young woman rescued, unconscious, in the East river late last night regained consciousness at a hospital this morning and was identified as Miss Alice Mills, a kindergarten teacher and a cousin of Richard C. Ellsworth, publisher and part owner of the Brooklyn Times.

She was unable to explain how she got in the water. "I don't know anything about it," she said, incoherently.

She left her boarding place last evening to visit a friend in Newark, N. J. Nothing more was heard from her until hands near the foot of Montague street, Brooklyn, saw a dark object in the water and dragged it ashore. There were many bruises on her body.

"BOOZE AND BOOKS DON'T MIX," SAYS RECORDER

"Cut out the clubs and the liquor if you are a student," is the advice udge Broyles gave Saturday morning when L. N. Kwontz, who claims to go to school in Atlanta, was arraigned before him on the charge of drunk and disorderly conduct. "You can't study books and lick up booze at the same time."

Kwontz and L. G. Bagby were arrested Thursday night on DeKalb avenue. Having imbibed a trifle too freely at several clubs in town, it seems, they had hired a cab to take them home. When they dismissed the cab a block or so away from their residences on a street running off DeKalb, they found they had no money to pay their jehu. Cabby called the officers and had his fares arrested.

The recorder dismissed them with a light fine Saturday morning, together with some sage advice.

Charity Bounty Healing a Penniless Young Girl

Quick response to a case of need that The Journal published by request of Dr. John A. Alley the other day, is reported by that physician. Miss Alma Kiser, a sixteen-year-old girl, was traveling with her mother in the show business when she became very ill and after she had been sick a week her mother brought her to Atlanta. She had to be taken to a sanitarium, and there began the expense for which neither mother nor daughter had any funds at all. It was then that the appeal was made.

"The young woman has improved slightly," said Dr. Alley, Saturday morning. ...er chance of recovery depends upon her being kept in the hospital and given the best of care for the next ....ee weeks."

Dr. Alley stated further that E. A. Crawford, 519 Empire building, postoffice box 1554, has consented to receive further contributions to the fund for keeping Miss Kiser in the hospital.

The contributions so far recorded are as follows:

Cash	$20
T. M. A.	25

Mrs. M. Regenstein, 262 Whitehall	5
Mrs. H. L. Wilson	15

MAY LEVY SPECIAL TAX TO CONSTRUCT BRIDGES

Floyd County Grand Jury Recommends Better Bridges and Salary System

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., May 10.—The May grand jury has adjourned, after a lengthy session, and makes important recommendations as to county affairs. A committee has been appointed to confer with the Floyd county commissioners and city council relative to jurisdiction over the bridges across the rivers within the city limits. The grand jury holds that new bridges should be built to accommodate the increasing traffic, and Judge Moses Wright has stated that if the county and city cannot agree upon action, he will advocate a special tax levy for this purpose.

The grand jury further urges the improvement of the county jail, and the extension of the jail yard so that prisoners may be given a chance to exercise in the open air. A thorough business system should be installed to look after the county's affairs, in the opinion of the body, and as a most important step in this direction the abolition of the fee system for county officers and the substitution of a salary for each is recommended.

AMBASSADOR WILSON TO REMAIN IN MEXICO

Status of American Representative Not Changed by Huerta's Attitude

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—President Huerta's reminder to Ambassador Wilson of the limitation imposed upon him in his official intercourse with the Mexican government, is not expected to change the status of the American ambassador. Mr. Wilson has been doing business with a de facto government in the City of Mexico and although he has not been able to extend political recognition as desired by the Huerta element, he will continue to transact the necessary business of the American embassy at that captial for the present.

It is not anticipated that he will be given his passports nor that he will be recalled in view of the almost certain confusio nthat would follow among the large American colony of Mexico, if the ambassador were to leave the country summarily. The state department considers Mr. Wilson's work in the interest of Americans quite aside from any diplomatic functions of great importance.

Those Roman Fiddlers Want an Old-Time Meet

ROME, Ga., May 10.—An old-time fiddlers' convention and contest will be held here the latter part of this month. A challenge to the old fiddlers in north Georgia has been made by the old fiddlers of middle Georgia, and the opponents will get together here the last week in May.

There are a number of men here who have been gddlers all their lives, and declare that they can "mop up" with anything from middle Georgia when it comes to playing "Turkey in the Straw," "Chicken in the Bread Pan," and other old-time favorites.

SLEUTH BRINGS TOGETHER THIS ESTRANGED COUPLE

Detective Fred Bullard in the role of Cupid is an innovation for Atlanta's police force, inaugurated Friday afternoon when a husband and wife who have been separated for a month or more were brought together by his efforts.

W. H. Dowda, stationary engineer for the department of public works of Canton, Ga., and his wife, were the estranged couple who succumbed to the persuasion of Detective Bullard and were reunited.

While Mr. and Mrs. Dowda were living in Canton, the former was forced to be much away from home. About a month ago he returned to Canton from a rather long absence to find that his wife had disappeared.

Coming to Atlanta, he notified the police of his loss. Thursday Mrs. Dowda was found at the Kimball hotel, where she had been staying for three or four weeks. She absolutely refused to see her husband or have anything to do with him.

It was Detective Bullard who finally persuaded Mrs. Dowda to call at police headquarters and "talk it over." For nearly two hours Thursday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Dowda and the detective were closeted in the chief executive's office trying to reach a harmonious agreement.

Mrs. Dowda at last promised to return with her husband to Canton, provided he promised to treat her right and make her happy.

MEN AND RELIGION FIGHT INDORSED BY GOVERNOR

He Declares Problem They Seek to Solve Is Greatest That Confronts Nation

Marion Jackson, John J. Egan, and the other leaders of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, are not far wrong in their ideas, according to Governor Brown, who commented on their crusade today.

Governor Brown intimated that while people were keen to take sides in political issues that came up in every community, they were apt to lose sight of this the most important problem now facing the people of the world—the social evil.

He said that the problem, aside from moral considerations, underlaid the very physical vigor and mentality of the nation and of the world, and not only was of vital interest to the present generation, but to successive generations of the race.

Governor Brown did not offer a remedy for the evil, or comment one way or another on the methods adopted in some cases, but he did emphasize the necessity of lessening the veil.

He considered that this problem was the greatest now facing the nation and the world, as the health and strength and happiness of humanity were largely affected by it.

The great calamity in Omaha was quickly overshadowed by the terribly disastrous floods in Ohio. Great suffering and sickness from colds and exposure resulted which Foley's Honey and Tar Compound helped to alleviate. L. Poole, 2217 California St., Omaha, writes: "My daughter had a severe cough and cold but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound knocked it out in no time. My wife would not keep house without it. We have used it for years, always with good results." For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

provement of the service, and acquiesced in Chairman Candler's view that the small twenty-eight seat cars are no longer suitable and sufficient for a city of the size of Atlanta.

It is understood that this type of car will be retired as rapidly as the larger cars can be built and put into service.

Two remedies for the service on the congested lines are offered. One is to put on large cars where small ones are operated; another is to increase the number of cars and provide more frequent schedules on lines where large cars already have been installed.

It is said that a two or three-minute service will be given on Peachtree and Whitehall streets.

Owing to the evident desire of the street car company officials to co-operate with the railroad commission in providing the needed relief it is unlikely that there will be any necessity for the commission to hold a hearing or issue any formal orders.

COLLEGE PARK BAPTISTS HEAR OF MISSION WORK

Rev. A. Y. Napier, of China, will fill the pulpit of the College Park Baptist church at the morning service, 11 a. m. He will speak on the results of mission work in China.

Dr. L. B. Warren, formerly of Richmond, but now with the home mission board, will speak at the evening service, 8 p. m.

ATLANTA, 1914, CRY YAARAB SHRINERS EN ROUTE TO DALLAS

The "Yaarab" special will be met at Vicksburg by the Shriners of that city and will be guests at luncheon. A special invitation has been received from Jackson, asking the nobles to stop over there, but only a short stop can be made on account of the schedule. Two ladies, Mrs. D. F. White, and Miss Bessie Kempton, of Atlanta, are traveling as the guests of the "Yaarab" special. The train is due at Shreveport at 9 p. m.

Such a welcome as has been given the special in Mississippi would make a Shriner feel he was back in Atlanta. At every town and water tank where the train stopped, has been the same hearty reception. And every one seems to know that Atlanta is going to make the strongest bid as the convention city for 1914.

LIKE RAILROAD MAGNATES.

The Shriners are traveling as if they owned every railroad in the country. Every comfort possible is being provided on the train, which consists of a combination baggage car and coach, a tourist kitchen car, where the drum corps has reservations; two standard Pullmans for the members of the patrol and two standard Pullmans for the officers, representatives and other Nobles.

The trip is being personally conducted by Assistant General Passenger Agent John L. Meek, of the Southern railway; A. P. Matthews, division passenger agent of the Frisco lines, and N. C. Woodridge, southeastern passenger agent of the Texas and Pacific.

The official route of the special is:

Going: Southern railway to Birmingham; Alabama Great Southern railway to Meridian; A. & V. V. S. & P. to Shreveport; Texas and Pacific railway to Dallas.

Returning: Texas and Pacific to Texarkana; St. L. I. M. & S. railway to Memphis; Frisco lines to Birmingham; Southern railway to Atlanta.

The long ride through Mississippi and Louisiana will carry the special to Shreveport by 8:30 o'clock Saturday night. A stop of half an hour will be made in that city, and then it will be Dallas Sunday morning at 5 o'clock.

DALLAS SUNDAY MORNING.

The nobles will probably occupy their sleepers until 7 o'clock Sunday morning (if enthusiasm can be restrained), and will then parade with the Yaarab drum corps and patrol, giving such a demonstration of music and costumes as has probably not been heard in the Lone Star state, since the stellar emblem was wrested from Mexican rule.

The following is the official program for the conclave:

Shriners Off to Dallas, Confident of Success

If the noise made in Dallas by the drum corps of Yaarab temple is as loud as the noise they made marching through Atlanta streets Friday night on their way to the Terminal station then Dallas and all the Shriners attending the 1913 convention certainly will know that Atlanta means business.

And of course it will be, for that is the very thing the drum corps went for. Noise was the main purpose for which the Yaarab temple organized the drum corps. And the drum corps fulfills its purpose to a fare-you-well.

Coming through the canon between the Piedmont hotel and the Candler building, the drum corps produced a racket Friday night that rattled the windows and threatened to loosen brick and marble from the buildings.

Behind the drum corps marched the nobles of the Mystic Shrine, laughing, singing, waving banners and "hollering out" the slogan—"Atlanta, 1914!"

Forrest Adair, potentate of Yaarab temple, who has been a regular dynamo of energy in the campaign to bring the 1914 Shrine convention to Atlanta, on the eve of departure said:

"We will have them here in 1914. I have no doubt of it. We have raised $75,000 in one day in Atlanta to entertain them. Memphis in four weeks managed to raise $60,000. We've got the hotels, twenty-two of them, with more big ones going up, and I've got contracts in my pocket for 65 per cent of their space during the convention. Memphis hasn't got the hotels. Atlanta's marvelous response to the appeal for an entertainment fund won the admiration of every Shriner in the country. Naturally, they want to come to such a city."

A crowd of more than 2,000, most of them Shriners and Masons of lesser degree, were at the Terminal station Friday night to bid the Dallas party goodby and wish them success and a good time.

They boarded the train at 9:45 and promptly at 10 o'clock pulled out on their long pilgrimage half way across the continent. The train will make short stops at Birmingham, Meridian and Shreveport, and will arrive in Dallas Sunday morning.

Among those aboard the special are Forrest Adair, John Hynds, W. A. Foster, Claude Hutcheson, Fred Houser, J. C. Greenfield, S. L. Dickey, W. R. Joyner, H. G. Martin, J. R. Jacoway, Fred Patterson, Graham Phelan, J. Lee Barnes, Ben Colpy, J. F. Carson, Fred Van der Pool, J. F. Waitt, George Beck, Jesse E. Couch, James Kempton, Captain J. O. Seamons, First Lieutenant H. MAYOR VETOES REPORT OF FIRE DEPT. PROBE

Says Probe Was Farce and Report Is Rubbish—Hints at Grand Jury Investigation

Mayor Woodward has vetoed the report of the special committee of council which investigated Fire Chief Cummings and his department, which report the general council unanimously adopted last Monday.

"This investigation, like the investigation of the three aldermen in the McClelland charges, was a farce, and the committee's report is rubbish, just as the report of the McClelland probe committee is rubbish," the mayor said Saturday.

"In the fire probe R. E. Davidson, agent for the Webb company, makers of automobile apparatus, swore that he gave Fire Chief Cummings half of his commission, or $400, on the sale of a Webb engine to the city. He produced his check book stubs showing where he drew that amount from the bank a few days after the city paid for the engine, and showed the canceled check where he cashed $400 to his own order. In answer to this Chief Cummings simply says Davidson is a liar. The committee, in their report, say they think the evidence is not sufficient to support the charge.

"That's not a satisfactory answer to me, and I don't believe it will be a satisfactory answer to the grand jury, where the case will probably go.

"And I'm going to send council a message that will be about as warm a document as they've read lately.

"As to the committee's report on the McClelland charges, it simply palliates and excuses all the way through. It virtually says the gentlemen did the things they are accused of doing, yet are guilty of no impropriety and no wrong. Of course the committee couldn't condemn or criticise, for the members of the committee, or most of them, have known all the facts all along. They knew these things when they happened.

"'ut I'm not going to veto this report. The public already knows what sort of rubbish it is, and council would readopt it, anyhow, over my veto, so I think I'll not waste my time with it."

HEARD SCREAMS.

A woman pedestrian, whose name Mr. Dorsey has not made public, testifies that she passed the pencil factory about 4:30 o'clock on Saturday, April 26. Then she was attracted, it is said, by several shrill screams, which came apparently from the basement of the building. There were three screams in rapid succession, and then they suddenly stopped as if the crier had been choked.

This witness has been known to the police since Monday following the tragedy, for then she reported the occurrence to the officials. This is in conflict with the theory of the detectives that the girl met her death shortly afternoon Saturday.

COUNTY TO PAY BILL.

According to Shelby Smith, chairman of the Fulton county board of commissioners, that body and not Solicitor Dorsey, is going to pay the bill for the independent investigation of the Phagan murder mystery, which is being conducted by the solicitor general.

Mr. Smith states that more than a week ago the members of the commission agreed to stand the expense of an investigation "in order that Mr. Dorsey might not be hampered in getting to the truth of the matter."

The commissioners, so Mr. Smith says, have nothing more to do with the case. They simply told Mr. Dorsey to go ahead, and don't even know who he has employed, according to the chairman.

Mr. Smith will not discuss a pecuniary limit to the cost of the probe, but says that the board expects Mr. Dorsey to be "conservative."

BACKACHE A WARNING ALL SHOULD HEED

It is One of the First Signs of Kidney Troubles; if Neglected, Serious Diseases Follow

No one can be well and healthy unless the kidneys work properly and keep the blood pure. When they become clogged up and inactive, nature has a way of warning you.

Backache is one of the first symptoms. You may also be troubled with disagreeable, annoying bladder disorders; have attacks of lumbago or rheumatism; become nervous, tired, and feel all worn out; puffy swellings show under the eyes or in the feet and ankles; and many other symptoms are noticed. If they are neglected, dropsy, diabetes, or Bright's disease, which so often prove fatal, may result.

It is not only dangerous, but needless for you to suffer and endure the tortures of these troubles, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely ends all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy known for the prompt cure of all such troubles than this new scientific preparation, because it removes the cause. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the clogged up pores; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and waste matter that lodge in the joints and muscles and cause those terrible rheumatic pains, and makes the kidneys filter and sift the poison out of the blood and drive it from the system.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache, relieve rheumatic pains, or overcome urinary disorders.—(Advt.)
